Report of the Executive Committee

PECIAL attention should be called to a number of facts referred to by the Superintendent in his report for the year ending June 30, 1931. First among these is the increase in the amount of service rendered by the New Haven Hospital. The number of days of care given patients far exceeds the total for any previous year. With this increase, fortunately, went a lowering of the unit cost of hospitalization. But in spite of retrenchment in expenses, and because the aggregate income from patients was less than in the previous year, a large operating deficit was incurred.

A very serious question thus presents itself. Shall persons unable to pay the nominal charge of $3 per day in the ward, which represents less than half the actual cost of maintenance, be denied hospital care? If not, how is the cost to be met? A small group of citizens during the year indicated their belief that the community should assure adequate hospitalization for those who are sick and needy by adding to the Hospital's resources for free care. Through the efforts of this group, to be enlarged during the coming year, almost $500,000 has already been promised as an increase to the capital funds of the Hospital. Such a response in a time of depression is highly gratifying, for it may be considered to be not only proof of a strong sense of community responsibility for sickness but also endorsement of the Hospital.

Another event of significance was the gift of $1,100,000 made to Yale University for the erection of the Sarah Wey Tompkins Memorial Surgical Pavilion at the New Haven Hospital. More than $11,000,000 has now been given by persons who are not residents of New Haven, for buildings used by the Hospital, and the provision of funds locally for the full utilization of the magnificent physical plant thus provided may be considered a case of noblesse oblige.

Attention must also be called to the committee organized by New Haven physicians for the purpose of coöperating with the Hospital administration in the conduct of the private pavilion. This is a development of major importance, and one which is in conformity with the desire of the Hospital to make itself ever more useful to the community.

Credit and appreciation are due many individuals and groups for the successful completion of the year's activities. Among these are the medical board and medical staff, administrative staff, nursing staff, directors of the General Hospital Society of Connecticut, of the New Haven Dispensary, and of the Connecticut Training School for Nurses, Board of Lady Visitors, William Wirt Winchester Hospital and Camp Association, and the Committee of Visiting Clergymen.

Report of the Superintendent

HE year 1930-1931 called upon the resources of the General Hospital Society of Connecticut, both at the New Haven Hospital and the William Wirt Winchester Hospital, to an extent never before experienced in more than one hundred years of service to the citizens of Connecticut.

The financial depression is no doubt reflected in the operating deficit of the Society, for in spite of an increase of 5,000 in the number of hospital days of care given, the income from patients was less than in the previous year, and the deficit increased 75 per cent. The coming year may be even more difficult than the last. One solution of the situation might be the hospitalization of more patients at the expense of the City of New Haven and surrounding towns. Even though municipalities pay only about half of the actual cost of hospital care, nevertheless this is more than the average patient in the ward is able himself to pay. Thus, with more hospitalization publicly provided for, the budget would more nearly balance.

Building Activities Continued

The appended statistical summary shows that there has been a marked increase in practically every activity of the New Haven Hospital. At the same time the building program inaugurated in the previous year has been continued. The Raleigh Fitkin Memorial Pavilion, formally dedicated in February, 1930, has been open to patients for more than one year, with results highly gratifying to patients and members of the staff. The Clinic Building, begun in August, 1929, was completed during the year. The end of the year found the dietary department transferred to new quarters, probably second to none in completeness of equipment. New store rooms, new quarters for pharmacy and surgical supply rooms, and a new section devoted to housekeeping activities were also provided. With these changes in physical equipment the provision of necessary non-professional services to patients will be much easier and more economical.

The Clinic Building, designed as an out-patient department, is being used temporarily for the housing of patients until the new surgical ward unit is completed. In the meantime, the cramped quarters of the old dispensary building will continue in use for out-patient clinics. Erection of the surgical pavilion entails razing the nurses' old building and the West ward. Moving of the kitchens into the Clinic Building, freeing the South building for housing of the maintenance group, permits elimination of the unsightly wooden buildings between the Isolation building and the Raleigh Fitkin Memorial Pavilion. The quarters in South will be adequate for present needs but permanent quarters for the maintenance units must be found.

Three Units Still Needed

WITH the completion of the surgical ward unit, which is to have a capacity of 130 beds, surgical patients and medical and pediatric patients with non-infectious diseases will be adequately housed. Among the buildings which must still be provided are a women's pavilion, a new Isolation building, and an addition to the private pavilion for patients of moderate means.

Housing for Personnel Inadequate

During the past few years reference has been made frequently to the need of adequate residential quarters for employees. Now, with the main entrance of the Hospital on Howard Avenue, the old frame houses opposite have become more conspicuous than ever before. Although the usual repairs have been made on these buildings, they are very unsatisfactory and better provision must be made for the personnel lodged there. Under the present arrangement it is difficult to obtain the right type of ward orderlies, porters, and maids.

High Type of Resident

The New Haven Hospital continues to attract residents and internes of the highest type. Never before have there been so many applicants for positions on the resident staff. The character of the men who come here may be due in some measure to the high standards of medical schools generally, but it can also be credited in part to the reputation of New Haven Hospital as a teaching institution and the fact that its plant is becoming one of the best in the country.

Nursing Service Consolidated

UNIFICATION of nursing service for the entire hospital has long seemed desirable. It was only during the past year that this aim was realized, by inclusion of the private pavilion service under the general nursing administration. Although there are still some changes being considered in the private pavilion service, results obtained by Miss Effie J. Taylor, superintendent of nurses, and her associates are highly commendable. A modified form of group nursing is now in use, for several patients may, if they so desire, employ one graduate nurse. It has been found, however, that patients who desire a special nurse usually prefer to have one on full time, while those who do not care for a special nurse seem to receive reasonable satisfaction from sharing the nurse on general floor duty.

Construction work on buildings has added to the great burden of the nursing staff during the past year. Many temporary arrangements have had to be made, and during frequent movings from one section of the building to another the daily routine of the nurse must be carried on without inconvenience to the patient. The attitude of student and graduate nurses throughout this trying period of adjustment has been more than gratifying, and never has there been a more harmonious relationship between the nursing staff and medical and administrative departments.

Committee on Private Service

In keeping with its policy of improving service to the community wherever possible, the New Haven Hospital has asked a group of physicians in private practice to act as a committee on the private pavilion. This committee, consisting of Drs. Howard S. Colwell, Lewis C. Foster, Luther K. Musselman, and Donald W. Porter, is coöperating actively with the medical board and the directors of the Hospital in working out administrative policies which will make the private pavilion of maximum usefulness to patients and physicians.

Opening of Psychiatric Clinic

On the first of March the psychiatric clinic in the Institute of Human Relations, under the direction of Dr. Eugen Kahn, was opened for the reception of patients. This clinic, furnished with supplies from hospital stores and food from the hospital kitchens, is considered a part of the general administrative responsibility of the New Haven Hospital. Approximately 1,100 patient days of care have been given by the clinic during its first year. The patients are primarily of the type which would be responsive to study and immediate treatment, and the period of hospitalization is limited to fifteen days, except upon the recommendation or approval of the chief of the clinic. This valuable adjunct to the hospital facilities of New Haven will undoubtedly relieve the burden of many a family by providing a place for study and treatment of mental cases. Until the opening of the clinic there was no provision for mental illness except in state institutions, which are overcrowded and provide for the most part only custodial care.

Appointment to Administrative Staff

DURING the year just past the Hospital has welcomed to its administrative staff Dr. Albert Franklin Dolloff, a graduate of the University of New Hampshire and of Yale University, and for the past five years associate professor of biology at William and Mary College in Virginia.

William Wirt Winchester Hospital

The William Wirt Winchester Hospital continues to provide hospitalization for sixty patients. The financial situation during the past year has made it impossible to make more beds available to the public, but the waiting list, which at one time was as high as thirty-five, has gradually become smaller. This is undoubtedly due to the economic condition of persons who formerly made application for hospitalization. The plant continues to serve as an acute condition hospital rather than a sanatorium. Patients for the most part have been of the type who are confined to bed for the greater part of the time. The cost of hospitalization is approximately that of the New Haven Hospital, which is to be expected since both are designed for acute cases.

The personnel of the Winchester Hospital remains the same as during the last year. The methods of treatment have not materially changed. Surgical cases have been brought to the New Haven Hospital for operations such as phrenecotomy and thoracoplasty. Artificial pneumothorax has been used to a great extent by Dr.

Soper and his associates and the number of patients returning to the Hospital for refills is gradually increasing.

Winchester Hospital is serving the citizens of the immediate vicinity of New Haven in a satisfactory manner. As far as possible, admissions have been limited to patients living in New Haven County. However, many other citizens of the State have also been cared for.

Summer Camp for Children

The work of the preventorium, which was open as usual during the months of July, August, and September, was of a high order. Miss Reed, who directed the Camp so successfully last year, returned and with her came several members of the counsellor staff who had been at the Camp before. The following figures will attest to the results which were obtained:

Children Admitted 101 Total Operating Expenses $11,524.00
Daily Average Number 78 Per Capita Cost per Day 1.76
Remaining Entire Season 63 Per Capita Cost—Food .60
Total Children's Days 6,538 Gained over 10 lbs. Each 20
Greatest Gain 17½ lbs.

Contributors to this project during the year were, in addition to the General Hospital Society of Connecticut, and the William Wirt Winchester Hospital and Camp Association, the Employees' Tuberculosis Relief Association, the Kiwanis Club of New Haven, and the City of New Haven. The City contributed to the work of the Camp for the first time. Through the representation of the Mayor, the Board of Finance appropriated the sum of $1,500 for the salaries of counsellors.

The Camp should be expanded whenever funds are available for the purpose. It is probably one of the most worthy projects sponsored by the General Hospital Society of Connecticut, and there is a real need for the care of many more children than can now be admitted. No more children can be taken until additional sleeping quarters are provided, and these, of course, must be of fireproof construction. Genuine appreciation of the devotion and interest of the many persons who follow the work of the Camp and contributed to its support during the year must be expressed.

Mrs. Lewis H. Bronson, chairman of the executive committee of the William Wirt Winchester Hospital and Camp Association, reports that about 180 citizens of New Haven accepted the invitation to join the Association, and in a number of instances sustaining and contributing memberships were taken. The major interest of the Association is the Camp, but it also helps to relieve the monotony of the patients at the William Wirt Winchester Hospital by providing musical and other entertainments.

Board of Lady Visitors

The Board of Lady Visitors again provided Christmas decorations and entertainment in the Hospital. Presents were provided for patients and employees, including bed stockings for the smaller patients. Singing of carols in the wards helped to create a happy holiday atmosphere. Window boxes were arranged for the wards during the year. Flowers were furnished on several occasions. The customary interest was shown in the closet of clothes for outgoing patients and in the collection of magazines, toys, games, and books. Members of the Board visited the Hospital several times a week to assist the public school teacher in reading and teaching sewing to the children.

Committee of Visiting Clergymen

Twelve clergymen representing all the various denominations in New Haven have made up the committee during the past year. Each man was in charge of the work for one month, visiting in the wards and making special calls as requested.

Three meetings of the committee were addressed during the year by members of the Hospital and Medical School staff. A series of lectures on psychiatry, arranged especially for the committee, were given at the Institute of Human Relations under the direction of Dr. Kahn. Great interest was shown in this opportunity to learn something of modern developments in the field of psychiatry and mental hygiene.

X-ray Department

The census of patients referred to the X-ray department during the past year compares favorably with that of the year preceding. There were 9,098 patients admitted to the department for radiographic and fluoroscopic examinations, 6,654 cases from the Hospital and 2,544 from the Dispensary, an increase of 1,781, or approximately 19.5 per cent over the previous year.

A total of 781 patients applied for radiation therapy, while 564 were treated the year before. Of these patients, 376 were referred by the Dispensary, and the remainder by Hospital and outside physicians. This division shows an increase of 27.8 per cent in the work done.

During the year one clerical assistant and one additional technician have been added to the non-professional personnel. The professional personnel consists of a radiologist-in-chief, a resident radiologist, an assistant radiologist, and an interne. Twenty-four hour service is maintained by both the technical and professional staffs.

Since February of this year the department has been located in the new Clinic Building. The department is now adequately equipped with modern radiographic and radiotherapeutic apparatus, and compares favorably in efficiency and equipment with any X-ray department.

Laboratory Service

The past year has seen no material change in the policy upon which the laboratories are operated nor has there been any striking change in the volume of work done or in its character. As in previous years the work is largely serological and the total number of examinations completed upon requisition from the Hospital and Dispensary is 12,846. In addition, the laboratory has continued to do a considerable volume of work involving examinations of many types for individual physicians and for institutions outside of New Haven.

Information Service

EVERY effort has been made in the past year to add to the comfort and convenience of patients and visitors. Telephone and information service was improved, and particular emphasis was placed upon the work of the admitting office. One of the most important functions of the Hospital is to make a stay or a visit to the institution as pleasant as possible under the circumstances. When the new Clinic Building is opened, it is hoped that a person may be stationed in the main foyer to receive incoming patients and visitors, and to direct them to the proper stations for information and service. With limited resources the problem is by no means an easy one, but the Hospital is endeavoring in every way possible to serve applicants for admission and visitors efficiently and to make them feel at ease.

New Haven Dispensary

REFERENCE has already been made to completion of the new Clinic Building at the center of the Hospital plant, and postponement of its occupancy by the Dispensary because of its temporary use for hospitalization of ward patients while the Sarah Wey Tompkins surgical pavilion is being erected. In spite of continuing in cramped quarters, the Dispensary, like the Hospital, experienced in 1930-31 the busiest year of its existence. The census of clinics and the financial statement, which appear elsewhere in this report, speak for themselves, and become even more significant when the quality of service rendered is considered.

The number of treatments given during the year totalled 71,037, an increase of 7,953, or 13 per cent, over the service rendered in the previous year. While this reflects in part the present economic situation, it is also in part the result of steady growth. A review of recent years shows that the Dispensary is now visited by fifty per cent more patients than it was five years ago. While the number of treatments increased during the year by 13 per cent, the total operating expenses were only 8 per cent greater. The average cost per treatment fell 4½ cents, from $1.05 to $1.005. Patients also paid less, the average dropping from 31 to 29 cents per treatment, which includes fees for drugs, X-rays, braces, and special treatments and materials. A fee of 25 cents per visit is charged those who can afford to pay this much, but many pay less.

Service increased in almost every clinic in the Dispensary, so that all departments felt the burden, which will be greatly lightened when the Dispensary moves into its new quarters with enlarged space, new equipment, and greater coördination of Hospital and Dispensary activities.

Albert W. Buck, Superintendent.

*Deceased

†Previous to the amendment of the constitution of The General Hospital Society in 1919, persons contributing at any one time $1,000 became vice-presidents for life; contributors of $500, life directors; contributors of $50, life members; and contributors of $25, members for ten years. The Act of March 20, 1919, omitted the class of life directors and provided that contributors of $500 should be life members; of $25, annual members. Those enumerated in the list as life directors are, therefore, those who qualified before the amendment of 1919.
