YALE'S EXTRACURRICULAR & SOCIAL ORGANIZATIONS

1780 - 1960

Extracurricular Groups

Foreword

Since the eighteenth century there has grown up at Yale a vast number of societies, fraternities and clubs; students have always been great "joiners". Some of these have lasted a long time and are important while others existed only a brief period and died, leaving, perhaps, only a name with no date available. In going through the old copies of the Banner the names of many of these latter appear only to be omitted in later issues and so we assume that they passed from the scene.

A group might get together for some purpose, select a name, be recorded in the Banner, and then in a short time cease to exist. These we have not included for while they may have been important to the founders, they made no impression on the Yale scene. We have not included athletics or the preparatory school and state clubs that as a rule meet infrequently, perhaps for one dinner a year, and usually have an ephemeral existence.

After months of research we have compiled a list of the more important extracurricular activities, giving, where possible, the date, when they first appeared and if they dropped out, the year. In some cases there are no adequate records and so we have resorted to question marks. If only one date appears, it is the time of founding and the organization is still in existence.

It is hoped that any graduate who goes over this list and finds important omissions will notify us.
