THE ANNUAL MEETING

WAS HELD JANUARY 22, 1896.

ADDRESS BY MRS. CURTIS.

Year after year the story of our school repeats itself; a story of steady work; of some perplexities (for the millennium has not yet dawned), and also, we would hope, of some progress. Whatever of change or of special interest the past twelve months have brought, will be so faithfully reported by our Secretary that there seems little occasion of words from me, beyond those of welcome to the opening year, which I cordially give you.

It is fitting, however, that some reference should be made by your President, as well as by your Secretary, to one event of 1895: the retirement of our Superintendent, Mrs. Quintard, from the position which she so long and efficiently filled. With the first intimation of her plans, last summer, the question "What are we to do?" assumed gigantic proportions. I fear that, for a time at least, the sense of our own loss overshadowed our satisfaction in Mrs. Quintard’s success. That we have been able to fill her place so acceptably and without interruption to the work of the school, should make us hopeful of provision for every emergency.

We know, as we stand face to face with 1896, that, under new forms possibly, the old experiences confront us. There will be the same routine of duties, the same needful attention to details, the same more or less serious questions. "Life is a treadmill," says the cynic, "a round of wearisome tasks or of equally wearisome pleasures." Yes, if we will let it be so; if we will suffer our enthusiasm to wither and our interest in the great problems of humanity to flag. But there are few things in life more beautiful than the sight of a man or a woman growing old in years, yet preserving in heart the fresh spirit of youth. With such there can be no tiresome monotony. So our school, as age increases, must not fall into humdrum ways. It must keep in touch with the great outside world and alive to all true progress. It must be ready to adopt new methods, when they are also better ones, and to discard the old, when they are no longer useful.

Just here, at the risk of wearying you, may I call special attention to a branch of our work which is very near my heart, our missionary nursing? The importance of this work can hardly be questioned. Those who know what sickness means in well-ordered homes, with skilled physicians, trained nurses, and all the applicances of modern methods, can conjecture what it must be in the crowded dwellings of poverty and ignorance. Into these dwellings the intelligent nurse brings cheer and comfort that can not be estimated. It is not simply that she relieves the urgent need of the hour. The suggestive lessons of her work are scarcely less valuable; "I never knew how to do for my children "till I watched the nurse," said the weary mother of a large family.
"And," she added with a look of pride, "you wouldn't believe ma'am, how handy it all comes now."

Bequests to our school for this work yields an annual income of about ninety dollars, and this has been, at times, increased by gifts from kind friends and by the repeated generosity of The Chrysanthemum Club.

How to use this fund most wisely, securing the greatest good to the largest number, is no new question. It has often been thoughtfully considered. Possibly, with the uncertain demands of missionary nursing and with the fluctuating income of our school, no better plan than our present one is practicable. Possibly there is opportunity for improvement. It may, at least, be well, again to review the subject carefully, if only to assure ourselves that we are accomplishing all we ought.

Certainly 1896 can hold little more worthy of earnest thought, than an effort to broaden our field of usefulness among the suffering poor whom we have always with us.
Twenty-eight nurses have graduated during the past year, and are now prepared to prove that the years passed with us have fitted them to be wise, and calm, and kind, in times of sickness, or of any emergency.

Fifty-three pupils are now connected with the school. Thirty-seven are internes and sixteen are externes. The externes are sent to private cases during the last eight months they are with us.

There have been 371 calls for nurses during the past year, of which only 278 could be answered. The demand for our nurses assures us that their services are appreciated by physicians and private families.

Our externes have a limited experience in visiting the sick poor in their homes. We shall be glad to extend our work in that direction, and the nurses are interested in such missionary work, but we cannot do it gratuitously. The support of our School comes principally from the payments received from private cases, and we must receive the same amount for nursing the poor, to enable us to meet our heavy expenses. We acknowledge with thanks the sum of $180 received from the Chrysanthemum Exhibition and Sale, and also donations from friends interested in this mission work.

The internes are pursuing a systematic course of instruction in the hospital.

The Committee on Instruction present the following report for 1895. There have been twenty-seven lectures given:

Two on Pathology of Inflammation, Dr. Carmalt.
One on Anatomy of the Eye, Dr. Carmalt.
Eight on General Nursing in Medical Cases, Dr. Fleischner.
Thirteen on Anatomy and Physiology, Mr. Kellogg.
Two on Urinary Analysis, Dr. Sheehan.
One " " Mr. Flynn.

There have been 194 surgical operations at which many of the pupils were present, and taught to give the subsequent nursing.

There have been 39 births at which bedside instruction was given.

Recitations for the Senior and Junior classes have been held from the following text-books: McMurtry on Nursing in Pelvic Surgery; Handbain and Ferguson on Obstetrical Nursing; Wilson on Fever Nursing; Kimber's Anatomy; Morris' Therapeutics.

Models and diagrams for the study of physiology are in use, and a Hand-Book for the Junior Class.

Gould's Medical Dictionary (pocket edition) is used by the School.

In the surgical room bandages are rolled and special dressings are provided for by the nurses.

The operating pavilion, before and after operations, is under the supervision of a nurse specially appointed for that purpose.

Instruction in the use of the electric battery and in simple massage has been given, and in the diet kitchen under the special charge of the School nurses have been taught simple cookery, followed by examination in the presence of the Special Committee.

Examinations for graduation have been kindly held by Dr. Wm. G. Daggett, Dr. W. W. Hawkes, Dr. C. A. Tuttle, and Dr. Henry Fleischner.

We would again thank the physicians who have been unfailing in their kindness to the nurses who have been ill.

We would express our appreciation of the thoughtful kindness of Mr. C. S. deForest in giving to the School a box at the Hymnion for both performances of the Oratorio of the Redemption.

We gratefully acknowledge the courtesy shown to us by the Hospital Society and by the Superintendent, Mr. Starkweather.

E. BETTS, Secretary.
REPORT OF MISSIONARY WORK.

A short account of some of the missionary work done by the Training School may interest the charitably inclined, and induce those who have comfortable homes and kind friends to remember that many of their own pains might be soothed and the dull hours brightened by the thought that they had helped to send some brightness and comfort into homes of poverty, where life, even in hours of health, is only just bearable.

During 1895 missionary nurses have attended five confinement cases, often supplying proper food and taking care of other children. Two cases of pneumonia, one of them a woman who had not improved for want of proper care. Food was brought by members of her church, but on two occasions, as she had nothing to eat, the nurse bought beef and eggs for beef tea and egg punch, and made daily visits for eight days, till the doctor said that it was no longer necessary.

Two cases of typhoid fever, one patient; a widow with two children, having no one to care for her. The nurse stayed night and day for two weeks and called daily for ten days longer. Two children with diphtheria, one of whom died. One family with grip and one accident case, where the patient, a boy, died six hours after the arrival of the nurse.

REGULATIONS OF THE SCHOOL.

The Executive Committee of the Connecticut Training School for Nurses has made arrangements with the authorities of the New Haven Hospital for training women desirous of becoming professional nurses. Those wishing to receive this course of instruction must apply to the Secretary of the Society, when, if approved by the Executive Committee, they will be accepted as pupils in the Hospital. The candidate must be over 24 and under 40 years of age and must present a certificate from a clergyman and a physician as to her good moral character and sound health. She will be received for one month on probation, without compensation.

All pupils will be under the authority of the Superintendent of Nursing, and subject to the rules of the Hospital. The Superintendent will have full power to decide as to their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them within the month of trial. She can also discharge them at any time, with the approval of the Committee of the Training School, in case of misconduct or inefficiency.

Those fulfilling the conditions of the probationary month will be accepted as Pupil Nurses. They must then sign a written agreement to remain under the direction of the school for two years.

When in the Hospital they will be expected to wear a simple uniform dress, which is given to them at the end of the month of probation. They will reside in the Nurses' Home and will be supplied with board, washing and lodging, and also receive during the entire term 200 dollars. This sum is not intended as wages, it being considered that their education is a full equivalent for their services.

The Day Nurses are on duty from 7 A. M. until 8 P. M., but are allowed time for their meals and two hours for rest and recreation. They usually have half a day off duty once a week.

As the institution is not sectarian, there are no services connected with it except evening prayers, which all nurses not on duty are expected to attend.

A vacation of two weeks will be given each year.
Gratuitous care is given in sickness for such time as the Committee may decide, but time so lost must be made up.

During the last eight months of their connection with the School the Nurses will be assigned to special duties in the Hospital, to missionary cases in this city, or to the care of patients in private families.

THE INSTRUCTION INCLUDES:
1. The dressing of blisters, burns, sores and wounds: the application of fomentations, poultices, and minor dressings.
2. The application of leeches.
3. The administration of enemas.
4. The use of catheter.
5. The keeping of temperature records.
6. The best methods of applying friction to the body and extremities.
8. The management of helpless patients: moving, changing, giving baths in bed, preventing and dressing bed sores, and managing positions.
9. The making of patients' beds, and removing sheets while the patient is in bed.
10. The making of accurate observations and recording the various symptoms of the patient.
11. Ventilation.
12. The making of bandages and rollers, and bandaging.
13. The keeping of all utensils perfectly clean.
14. The preparations of nice articles of Diet for the sick.

Instruction will be given at the bedside of the patient and in classes by the Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent and the attending physicians and surgeons. Courses of lectures are also given.

When the full term is ended, the Nurses thus trained will each receive a diploma signed by physicians of the Committee, the President and other Officers of the School. Efforts will also be made to secure for the graduates positions in Hospitals or in private families where there is sickness.

Special short courses can be arranged to educate missionary nurses, for five dollars a week.

Those intending to enter upon home or foreign mission-work would greatly increase their usefulness by such a practical course of training as this school affords.

QUESTIONS TO BE ANSWERED BY CANDIDATE.
1. Name in full, and present address of Candidate?
2. Are you married, single, or a widow?
3. Your present occupation or employment?
4. Age last birthday, birthplace and date of birth?
5. Height, in feet and inches? Weight?
6. Where educated?
7. Can you read and write well?
8. Are you strong and healthy in mind and body? And have you always been so?
9. Perfect in sight and hearing?
10. If a widow, have you children? How many? Their ages? How are they provided for?
11. Where (if any), was your last situation? How long were you in it?
12. Have you been connected with any Hospital or Training School?
13. The names in full and addresses of two persons to be referred to. State how long each has known you?
14. Have you a knowledge of arithmetic as far as percentage?
15. Have you read this whole paper? and do you promise to conform to the requirements?

CONNECTICUT TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

STATE HOSPITAL, NEW HAVEN.

The Nurse, has this day been sent by request of to nurse in the case of

The charge for her services in this State being $12 a week, and the necessary traveling expenses and washing.

Signed,

DUTIES OF THE NURSE.

The Nurse's time belongs to the family employing her. She is to take entire charge of the patient, and of the room and closets and bath rooms used in connection with it. This care includes ventilation, bed-making, attention to the fire, emptying and disinfecting utensils, sweeping and daily dusting; and oversight of the patient's bed and body clothing; preparation of beef tea and other articles requiring care, giving all medicines and stimulants—serving of meals—washing and carrying for the patient, keeping of daily records for the physician, and the writing out of his orders.

All worries of every kind are to be kept away from the sick room, and no gossip about other cases indulged in.

The patient's comfort and repose of mind are to be carefully studied by the Nurse.

In slight illness, and when called to confinement cases before needed, the Nurse is to employ her leisure in sewing or other light services for the family. In care of a baby, she will, in addition to the above duties, attend to the rinsing of certain articles of the child's clothing, and when fresh air is necessary for the baby during the first month, she will herself take the child out, if the mother can be left with an assistant, remembering that the Nurse's arms are the only safe place for so young a baby.

On going off duty at any time, the Nurse must leave written directions with her deputy. She is to take entire charge of her own room, and wear the uniform of the School. Not more than eighteen pieces are to be put in the family wash, and no white skirts.

In Hotels, the Nurse performs all the above duties, and will not require from the servants what she would herself attend to in a private house.

The FAMILY is respectfully reminded that the Nurse cannot do justice to her patient without sufficient rest. When day and night watching are required, six hour's unbroken sleep in the twenty-four, and an hour in the fresh air once or twice a week should be provided. In confinement cases, the Nurse sleeps near her patient and takes her rest as she can; she must not expect to be out of the house for at least two weeks.

The Nurse's meals should be served before or after the family table, when some responsible person can be left in the sick room.

The FAMILY AND PHYSICIAN are earnestly requested—for the sake of the Nurse, and of those to whom she may be called—to state frankly whether the above duties have been performed, and the Nurse's services have been in all respects acceptable. This paper to be mailed in the accompanying envelope at the close of the engagement.

The services of the Nurse are this day dispensed with, and the sum of $ is handed her.

Signed,

REMARKS.

[COPY OF PAPER RETURNED BY EMPLOYERS.]

CONNECTICUT TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

Persons employing our Nurses are earnestly requested to write upon this paper their honest opinion of the Nurse's services, whether favorable or the reverse, and to forward the same by mail to the head Nurse at the Hospital.
