FRESHMEN, 108.

A

STATEMENT

OF THE

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION, EXPENSES, &c.

IN

YALE COLLEGE.

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class, are examined in Cicero's Select Orations, Virgil, Sallust, the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Græca Minora, Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar, Goodrich's or Sophocles' Greek Grammar, Latin Prosody, Andrews' Latin Exercises, Barnard's or Adams' Arithmetic, Webster's or Murray's English Grammar, and Morse's, Worcester's, or Woodbridge's Geography.* Jacobs' Greek Reader and the four gospels, are admitted as a substitute for Græca Minora and the Greek Testament.

A candidate for an advanced standing, whether from another college or not, in addition to the preparatory studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class he proposes to enter has attended. No one can be admitted into the Senior Class after the close of the January vacation.

* The deficiency of most candidates for admission, in the Latin and Greek Grammars, Latin Prosody and Composition, Geography, and the theoretical part of Arithmetic, makes it necessary to remark, that the examination in these subjects will be strict and comprehensive. Candidates will also observe, that Arithmetic is no longer studied in College, and an examination for admission is therefore held in both the theory and practice of Arithmetic.

The regular examination for admission into College, commences on the Monday preceding the public Commencement; but persons may be examined for an advanced standing in any other part of the collegiate terms. It is requested that they may not be offered in the vacations, except for very special reasons.

No one can be admitted to the Freshman Class, till he has completed his fourteenth year, nor to an advanced standing without a proportional increase of age.

Testimonials of good moral character are in all cases required; and those who are admitted from other colleges must produce certificates of dismission in good standing. The students are not considered as regular members of the College, till, after a residence of at least six months, they have been admitted to matriculation, on satisfactory evidence of an unblemished moral character. Before this they are only students on probation.

Course of Instruction.

The Faculty, to whom is committed the government and instruction of the students, consists of a President; a Professor of Chemistry, Mineralogy and Geology; a Professor of the Latin Language and Literature; a Professor of Divinity; a Professor of Rhetoric and Oratory; a Professor of Natural Philosophy and Astronomy; a Professor of the Greek Language and Literature; a Professor of Mathematics; and seven Tutors.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years. In each year there are three terms or sessions.

The three younger classes are divided each into two or three parts. These are instructed by the Tutors of the class, in rotation, with the assistance of the Professors. The Senior Class is instructed by the President and Professors. Each of the four classes attends three recitations or lectures in a day; except on Wednesdays and Saturdays, when they have only two. The following scheme gives a general view of the authors recited in each term:—

FRESHMAN CLASS.

I.
- Folsom's Livy, from one half to two thirds.
- Adam's Roman Antiquities.

SENIOR CLASS.

I.
- Hedge's Logic.
- Blair's Rhetoric.
- Stewart's Philosophy of the Mind.
- Paley's Moral Philosophy.
- Kent's Commentaries on American Law, Vol. I.
- Greek and Latin.

II.
- Kent's Commentaries, Vol. I. continued.
- Paley's Natural Theology.
- Evidences of Christianity.
- Greek and Latin.

III. Wayland's Political Economy.

In addition to the recitations in the books here specified, the classes receive lectures and occasional instruction from the Professors of the Greek and Latin Languages; the Junior Class attends a course of experimental lectures on Natural Philosophy; and the Senior Class, the course on Chemistry, Mineralogy, Geology, and select subjects of Natural Philosophy and Astronomy. The members of the several classes attend also the private exercises and lectures of the Professor of Rhetoric and Oratory. A course of Lectures on the oration of Demosthenes for the crown, is delivered to members of the Senior Class. Specimens of English composition are exhibited once a fortnight by each member of the Sophomore and Junior Classes. Written translations from Latin authors are presented weekly by the Freshman Class. The lower classes are also instructed in Latin composition. The Senior and Junior Classes have forensic Disputations once or twice a week, before their instructors. There are very frequent exercises in Declamation before the Tutors, before the Professor of Oratory, and before the Faculty and Students in the Chapel.

Gentlemen well qualified to teach the French and Spanish languages, are engaged by the Faculty to give instruction in these branches to those students who desire it, at their own expense.

The object of the system of instruction to the undergraduates in the College, is not to give a partial education, consisting of a few branches only; nor on the other hand, to give a superficial education, containing a little of almost every thing; nor to finish the details of either a professional or practical education; but to commence a thorough course, and to carry it as far as the time of the student's residence here will allow. It is intended to maintain such a proportion between the different branches of literature and science, as to form a proper symmetry and balance of character. In laying the foundation of a thorough education, it is necessary that all the important faculties be brought into exercise. When certain mental endowments receive a much higher culture than others, there is a distortion in the intellectual character. The powers of the mind are not developed in their fairest proportions, by studying languages alone, or mathematics alone, or natural or political science alone. The object, in the proper collegiate department, is not to teach that which is peculiar to any one of the professions; but to lay the foundation which is common to them all. There are separate schools of Medicine, Law and Theology, connected with the College, as well as in various parts of the country, which are open to all who are prepared to enter on professional studies. With these the undergraduate course is not intended to interfere. It contains those subjects only which ought to be understood by every one who aims at a thorough education. The principles of science and literature are the common foundation of all high intellectual attainments. They give that furniture, and discipline, and elevation to the mind, which are the best preparation for the study of a profession, or of the operations which are peculiar to the higher mercantile, manufacturing, or agricultural establishments.

For a more particular view of the plan of education in the College, see Reports on the Course of Instruction, puhlished in Vol. XV, of the American Journal of Science.

The Berkeleian Premium, of about forty six dollars a year, is given to the scholar in each class who passes the best examination in Latin and Greek; provided he resides as a graduate in New Haven, one, two, or three years. Premiums are also given for Latin and English composition, and for declamation in public.

There are two public examinations of the classes in a year,—one in May, the other in August,—which are continued from four to six days each. The candidates for degrees are also examined at the close of their course of study.

There are three vacations in a year; one of six weeks, beginning at Commencement, the third Wednesday in August; the second, two weeks from the first Wednesday in January; and the third, four weeks from the last Wednesday in April. No student is allowed to be absent, without special leave, except in vacations. The absence of a student in term time, even for a few days, occasions a much greater injury to his education, than is commonly supposed by parents and guardians.

Parents are earnestly advised not to allow their sons to remain at the college in the vacations; except the short vacation in January.

Public Worship.

Prayers are attended in the College chapel every morning and evening, with the reading of the scriptures; when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the students are required to be present. They are also required to attend public worship in the chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend the Episcopal or other congregations in town.

Expenses.

The College bills are made out by the Treasurer and Steward three times a year, at the close of each term; and are presented to the students, who are required to present them to their parents, guardians, or patrons. If any student fails to comply with this requisition, he is not permitted to recite till the bills are paid.

The annual charges in the Treasurer's bill are,

For instruction, - - - - - -	$33 00
For rent of chamber in college, 9 to 15 dollars—average, - - - - - -	12 00
For ordinary repairs and contingencies, -	2 40
For general damages, sweeping, &c. about -	3 60
For expenses of recitation rooms, - -	3 00
	$54 00

Besides this, the student may be charged for damages done by himself, and a small sum for printing catalogues, and other occasional expenses.

Board is furnished in commons by the Steward, at cost, about $2 a week; or $80 a year, not including vacations. It varies, however, with the price of provisions. Wood is procured by the Corporation and distributed to those students who apply for it, at cost and charges.

The students provide for themselves bed and bedding, furniture for their rooms, candles, books, stationery, and washing. There are also, in the several classes and literary societies, taxes of a small amount. If books and furniture are sold, when the the student has no further necessity for them, the expenses incurred by their use will not be great.

The following may be considered as a near estimate of the necessary expenses, whithout including apparel, pocket money, traveling, and board in vacations:

Treasurer's bill as above,	-	-	$54		54
Board in commons, 40 weeks,	-	from	80	to	90
Fuel and light,	- - - -	"	6	"	15
Use of books recited, and stationery,		"	5	"	15
Use of furniture, bed and bedding,		"	5	"	15
Washing,	- - - - -	"	5	"	15
Taxes in the classes, &c.	- -	"	5	"	6
		TOTAL,	$160	to	$210

No students are permitted to take lodgings in town, except when the rooms in College are not sufficient to accommodate all.

Students who wait in the hall, are allowed their board; and those who occupy the recitation rooms, save their room rent and fuel in winter, and receive a small compensation in summer. A cheap boarding house is opened under the direction of the Steward, for those students who wish board at a lower rate than is furnished in commons. The price of board here, is about half a dollar less than in the principal hall.

By a resolve of the Corporation, a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars a year, is appropriated to the relief of indigent students and the encouragement of merit.

Notes of the several incorporated banks in this State, and such other notes as are taken by the banks in the city of New Haven, are received in payment of the bills. Drafts on New York, Philadelphia and Boston, are received without discount. Money or drafts to pay the Treasurer's and Steward's bills, may be transmitted directly to the Treasurer or Steward.

With regard to apparel, and what is called pocket money, no general estimate can be made. These are the articles in which the expenses of individuals differ most; and in which some are unwarrantably extravagant. There is nothing by which the character and scholarship of the students of this College are more endangered, than by a free indulgence in the use of money. Great caution with regard to this, is requisite on the part of parents. What is more than sufficient to defray the ordinary expenses, will expose the student to numerous temptations; and will not contribute either to his respectability or happiness.

As a precaution against extravagance, parents at a distance frequently deposit funds with some one of the faculty; who, in that case, pays a particular attention to the pecuniary concerns of the student, settles his bills, corresponds with the parent, transmits an account of the expenditures, &c., for which he charges a commission.

A person admitted to an advanced standing, unless coming from another college, pays a sum to the Treasurer, equal to half the tuition money, which has been paid by others of the class which he enters.

The Theological Department.

The Instructors in the Theological Department, are a Professor of Didactic Theology, a Professor of Sacred Literature, and the Professors of Divinity and of Rhetoric in the classical department of the College.

The whole course of instruction occupies three years; and the students are divided into Junior, Middle and Senior classes.

The time of admission is at the commencement of the first collegiate term. It is desirable that those who join the school, should commence at the beginning of the collegiate year; and those admitted to an advanced standing will be expected to have previously gone over the studies pursued by their respective classes. The terms and vacations are the same with those in the College. The conditions for entrance, are hopeful piety, and a liberal education at some college, unless the candidate has otherwise qualified himself for pursuing advantageously the prescribed course of studies.

No charges are made for tuition or lectures.

No funds have as yet been granted to this department for defraying the expenses of indigent students.

A building has been erected for the accommodation of students, in which the rooms are without charge, and are in part furnished.

Board may be obtained in private families at from $1 25 to $2 50 per week.

The Law School.

The Law School is under the direction of the Hon. David Daggett, LL. D., late Chief Judge of the Supreme Court in Connecticut, and Professor of Law; and the Hon. Samuel J. Hitchcock, Judge of the New Haven County Court.

The students are required to peruse the most important elementary treatises, and are daily examined on the author they are reading, and receive at the same time explanations and illustrations of the subjects they are studying.

A course of lectures is delivered by the Professor of Law, on all the titles and subjects of Common and Statute Law.

A moot court is held once a week or oftener, which employs the students in drawing pleadings, and investigating and arguing questions of Law.

The students are called upon from time to time, to draw declarations, pleadings, contracts and other instruments connected with the practice of law, and to do the most important duties of an attorney's clerk.

They are occasionally required to write disquisitions on some topic of law, and collect the authorities to support their opinions.

The students are furnished with the use of the elementary books, and have access, at all times, to the College libraries, and to a law library, comprising every important work, both ancient and modern.

The course of study occupies two years, allowing eight weeks vacation each year. The months of May and September are allotted for vacations.

The terms for tuition, with constant use of text books, and ordinary use of the library, are one hundred dollars per annum, payable in advance. For any less period than one year, ten dollars per month.

The Professor of Law delivers Lectures to the Senior Class in College, and hears recitations in Kent's Commentaries, during the first and second terms, once in each week.

The Medical Institution.

The Instructors in the Medical Institution, are a Professor of Surgery, a Professor of Chemistry and Pharmacy, a Professor of the Theory and Practice of Physic, a Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics, a Professor of Anatomy and Physiology, and a Professor of Obstetrics.

The annual course of Lectures, commences at the expiration of six weeks from the third Wednesday of August, and continues sixteen weeks. The lectures are so arranged, that at least five are given daily, and a part of the time, six.

The fees, which are required in advance, are $12 50, for each course, except that on Obstetrics, which is $6. The Matriculation fee is $5, and there is a contingent bill of $2 50. Those who have attended two courses of Lectures in this Institution, are entitled to admission to future courses, on the payment of the Matriculation fee and the contingent bill.

The ordinary price of board, room, &c., in New Haven, is from $2 to $3 per week, according to the accommodations required, and Medical Students may be accommodated in the West Commons, where the price has never yet reached $2.

The Students are entitled to gratuitous admission to the Medical and Academical Libraries, to the Anatomical Museum, and to the Cabinet of Minerals; and also to the Lectures on Natural Philosophy on paying the fee of the course.

The Medical College building was a few years since enlarged, and rendered spacious and commodious. The Anotomical Museum, which was before one of the most valuable in the country, has lately received important additions. The facilities for practical Anatomy are abundant, and on the most reasonable terms. Arrangements are made also for important improvements in the Cabinet of the Materia Medica.

By the Statutes of the State, the requirements for graduation are three years' study for those who are not Bachelors of Arts, and two years' for those who are; attendance upon two full courses of Lectures, either in this Institution or some other, of a similar character; the attainment of twenty one years of age, and a good moral character; together with a satifactory examination before the board of examiners for the State, at which he must present a dissertation upon some subject connected with the Medical sciences. This board consists of the Medical professors of the College ex officiis, and an equal number of persons chosen by the fellows of the Medical Society of the State. Licenses to practice are granted by the President of the Society, upon the recommendation of the board of examiners, and candidates for a license must possess the same qualifications as those for a degree, except that attendance upon one course of Lectures only is required. The graduation fee is $15. The examination is held immediately at the close of the Lectures, when the licenses are granted and the degrees conferred.

A short course of Anatomy and Physiology, consisting of about fifteen lectures, is given, in the summer season, to the Senior class, and to others who may choose to attend, which are illustrated by natural and artificial preparations.
