BANK INDONESIA REGULATION

NO. 10/31/PBI/2008

CONCERNING EMERGENCY LIQUIDITY ASSISTANCE FOR COMMERCIAL BANKS

I. GENERAL REVIEW

In the course of its business, Bank face various risks that include liquidity risk. Liquidity risk is the short-term funding difficulty that arises from mismatch between cash inflows and cash outflows. This condition can lead to a negative balance in the demand deposit account of the Bank at Bank Indonesia. If not quickly resolved, liquidity difficulties may lead to bigger problems, and may even lead to liquidity difficulty for other banks.

To resolve liquidity difficulty, the Bank must first raise funds on the money market, using the various available money market instruments. If the Bank fails to raise funds on the money market, Bank Indonesia in its capacity as lender of the last resort may provide a loan to the Bank to resolve the short-term funding difficulty.

Lender of the last resort policy is part of the financial safety nets essential to financial system stability. The comprehensive framework for the financial safety nets clearly prescribes the roles of each agency and the coordination mechanisms employed in the prevention and resolution of crisis. It is essential that financial system stability is maintained to support the monetary stability that provides the basis for sustainable economic growth.

Lender of the last resort facilities extended by the central bank to banks, whether under normal situations or to deal with crisis, can generally be categorized as follows:

1. Intraday Liquidity Facility (FLI) to overcome liquidity mismatch by the discrepancy of cash inflow and cash outflow. Provision of this facility to the Bank is addressed to smooth out repayment system operation backed by liquid, high value collateral provided by the Bank to Bank Indonesia.

2. The Short-Term Funding Facility (FPJP), whether extended to Banks experiencing liquidity difficulties at end of day (overnight) or to Banks unable to settle the Intraday
Liquidity Facility (FLI) at end of day. Provision of FPJP must be backed by liquid, high value collateral provided by the Bank to Bank Indonesia.

3. The Emergency Financing Facility (FPD) for a Problem Bank that is experiencing liquidity difficulty and has systemic impact, but still complying with the level of solvency prescribed by Bank Indonesia, in which extension of the facility is based on a decision by KSSK.

The FLI and FPJP is a facility provided by Bank Indonesia to resolve liquidity difficulty under normal conditions, while the FPD is a facility for addressing systemic impact or risk in an emergency in order to prevent and resolve a crisis. FPD extended in Crisis Prevention is extended by Bank Indonesia and guaranteed by the Government. Therefore, funding for the FPD is charged to the State Budget through issuance of Government Securities or Cash by the Government. FPD in the first Crisis Resolution has funding from the Government extended through Bank Indonesia.

To provide assurance of accountability and transparency, the decision making process in determining systemic impact or systemic risk and to extend the FPD to a Bank operates by means of a joint decision by the Minister of Finance through KSSM. The decision to extend the FPD shall be based on assessment of the potential for systemic risk for financial system stability and the negative impact on the economy if the FPDis not extended to the Bank.
