Last time the FDIC and the Board was not in favor of this. As you can see, the supervision folks at FDIC have initially weighed in at the negative. I really do think they will say no unless this is put into a broader context.

Subject: Lehman 23A

Deborah,

I have just received a report from our NY office that Lehman has for a 23A waiver to transfer $20 billion of assets to ILC.

I imagine that we share the same reaction and concern about moving forward with such a transaction. It sounds similar to ML's request, which was never approved.

Chris
