2008 Credit Guarantee Scheme

The Treasury is publishing this report following the closure of the drawdown window to provide additional background information about the initial drawdown phase<sup>1</sup>.

The Credit Guarantee Scheme was put in place as part of the financial support to the banking sector announced on 8 October 2008. It provides a Government guarantee for new short and medium term debt issuance to institutions eligible under the scheme (Eligible Institutions). The scheme became operational on 13 October 2008 and closed to new issuance on 28 February 2010. HM Treasury acts as guarantor for debt covered by the scheme, while the Debt Management Office handles the operational aspects.

The scheme has two main stages. During the initial drawdown window, Eligible Institutions were able to refinance maturing liabilities under the scheme. Following closure of the drawdown window on 28 February 2010, Eligible Institutions are able to refinance debt already guaranteed under the scheme, but they cannot issue new debt.

Issuance under the scheme

The scheme was open for refinancing of maturing liabilities through debt guaranteed under the scheme from 13 October 2008 until the closure of the drawdown window on 28 February 2010.

The majority of issuance was carried out in the first three months of the scheme. By the end of 2008 around £100 billion had been issued by Eligible Institutions. By the summer of 2009 outstanding issuance had risen further to over £125 billion. At the time of the Pre-Budget Report in 2009 issuance was reported as £134 billion.

<sup>1</sup> More general information relating to rules and operation of the scheme is published on the UK Debt Management Office website at UK Debt Management Office.

Since then, overall outstanding issuance has decreased as debt issued in the early stages of the scheme matured without being refinanced. As of 24 March 2010, issuance stood at £125 billion.

Currencies

Issuance in the following currencies is eligible for a guarantee under the scheme: Sterling, US dollars, Euros, Japanese yen, Swiss francs, Australian dollars and Canadian dollars. A breakdown of currencies as at 24 March 2010 is set out below in sterling equivalent millions:

Sterling (£mn)	Euros (£mn)	US Dollars (£mn)	Australian Dollars (£mn)	Swiss Francs (£mn)	Japanese Yen (£mn)	Canadian Dollars (£mn)
48,763	19,747	45,522	1,952	207	8,742	-

Maturities

Under the scheme, Eligible Institutions were able to issue instruments between 1 month and 3 years in maturity. The table below provides a high-level breakdown of the maturity profile of outstanding issuance.

Liabilities maturing in 12 months or less (£million)	Liabilities maturing between 1-3 years (£million) <sup>2</sup>
