MISS TAYLOR DIES, EX-YALE NURSING DEAN

HAMILTON, Ont. -- Private funeral services for Effie J. Taylor, formerly of New Haven, will be held Saturday in the Melrose United Church in Hamilton.

Miss Taylor, Dean Emeritus of the Yale School of Nursing, died Wednesday night in a retirement home in Hamilton, Ont., where she had been living for the past year. She was 96.

Miss Taylor was cited in 1962 as "one of the truly great leaders in the history of nursing and human progress." The 1962 citation, awarded at the annual convention of the Connecticut Nurses's Association, was given Miss Taylor "for distinguishing herself in war and peace, nationally and internationally."

Miss Taylor was appointed Dean of the Yale School of Nursing in 1934, a post she held until her retirement in 1944. Prior to that, she served for 11 years as superintendent of nurses at New Haven Hospital and also held a professorship of nursing in psychiatry at Yale. For many years, she resided at 472 Whitney Ave.

Born in Hamilton, Ont., in 1874, Miss Taylor was educated in the Hamilton College Institute, the Wesleyan Ladies College and the Johns Hopkins Hospital School of Nursing. During World War I she organized the Army School of Nursing at Camp Meade and served as its chief nurse. After the war, she returned to Johns Hopkins to become associate principal of the School of Nursing.

Miss Taylor was the first executive secretary of the National League of Nursing Education and later its president. She was a former president of the International Council of Nurses and had been active in the Red Cross and the Florence Nightingale International Foundation.

In 1959 Miss Taylor received the Florence Nightingale Medal, highest International Red Cross honor for "distinguished and devoted service to the sick and wounded in time of war and peace and in disasters."

She received an honorary M.A. degree from Yale and a degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Keuka College.

Miss Taylor is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Philip Nelson of Hamilton and Mrs. Walter B. Anderson of Lindsay, Ont., and several nieces and nephews.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR MISS TAYLOR

On September 26, 1970 nearly 100 former co-workers, students and friends gathered at Dwight Chapel at Yale University for a service commemorating Dean Emeritus, Effie J. Taylor. Miss Taylor died last May 20 in Hamilton, Ontario where she had been living in a retirement home since leaving New Haven a year earlier.

Chaplain Emeritus Sidney Lovett conducted the ceremony with readings from the Old Testament and from Pilgrim's Progress.

Dean Margaret Arnstein commented on her brief but meaningful contacts with Miss Taylor when she first came to New Haven and then introduced Dean Emeritus Elizabeth Bixler Torrey who succeeded Miss Taylor as Dean in 1944. Mrs. Torrey's thoughtful tribute is reprinted in the enclosed supplement.

A reception following the service took place in Dwight Common Room where friends of Miss Taylor had an opportunity to renew and exchange memories of their contacts with Miss Taylor.
YALE NURSING PROFESSOR ACTIVE IN THE COMMUNITY

Mrs. Rhetaugh Dumas, Associate Professor at the Yale University School of Nursing, has a personal involvement in the problems of community health and education. Recently appointed a member of New Haven's Board of Education, she is Chairman of Yale's Psychiatric Nursing Program. Here she is shown in a seminar at the Yale School of Nursing.

July - 1968

PSYCHIATRIC NURSING PROGRAM

The Yale School of Nursing program in Psychiatric Nursing has its roots in an advanced program in mental health nursing that was added to offerings of YSN in 1949, fifteen years after the decision to admit only college graduates to the Yale School of Nursing. The addition of that 12 month advanced program to the basic program was the first step in post-graduate nursing education at Yale.

The development of the program over the years has been progressive, challenging, and gratifying. This is attributable in a large part to the able leadership of program chairmen: Marion Russell, Ida Orlando Pelletier, Hilda Mertz, Florence Schorske Wald, Rhetaugh Dumas and a highly competent and committed faculty with diverse backgrounds and interests.

In line with the YSN curriculum revisions of 1959, the Psychiatric Nursing Program was expanded to two years of study. Since that time the program has grown considerably and revisions have been made as necessary to keep abreast of current trends and needs in nursing and mental health care.

The general aim of the YSN program in Psychiatric Nursing is to prepare clinical specialists in psychiatric nursing. We define our product as a licensed professional nurse with academic preparation at the Master's level, who is able to function competently in one or more areas of mental health care to: provide nursing services that will contribute maximally to the total care of patients; provide educational experiences in psychiatric nursing for professional and nonprofessional staff and trainees; assume leadership in delineating and interpreting the role of the clinical nurse specialist; and initiate, facilitate and participate in, research activity that has important implications for psychiatric nursing.

In addition to their teaching appointments at YSN all members of the Psychiatric Nursing faculty hold senior clinical positions in those institutions utilized as our major clinical training fields. Through this arrangement, those faculty having major responsibility for teaching are themselves actively involved in the provision of nursing services.

From the information that follows it is apparent that the faculty have varied academic and professional backgrounds and interests. Note also that their activities and contributions to psychiatric nursing and to nursing in general, extend far beyond YSN.

Excluding the Chairman, the two members of the current faculty who tie for the award for longevity are Mimi Dye and Mary Fischelis.

Mimi Dye, Vice-President of the YSN Alumnae Association, came from New Hampshire to the M. N. program at the Yale School of Nursing and graduated in 1958. In 1961 she graduated from the M.S.N. program. Mimi is an Assistant Professor in Psychiatric Nursing and Clinical Specialist in Psychiatric Nursing on the Inpatient unit of the General Clinical Division of the Connecticut Mental Health Center and a special assistant to the Chairman of the Psychiatric Nursing Program. At YSN her responsibilities include; 1) Coordinator of the first year program of the Psychiatric Nursing major, 2) leadership for the major departmental seminar in psychiatric nursing and 3) Master's report advisor.

As a Clinical Specialist at Connecticut Mental Health Center she is responsible for the nursing care on the Inpatient Unit which runs as a therapeutic community for short term treatment of acute psychiatric problems. She also sees individual patients in outpatient psychotherapy. Mimi is finishing her dissertation for a Ph.D. degree in the Department of Epidemiology and Public Health. Her major is epidemiology of mental health and illness and her dissertation title is "Lower Class Life Stress and Schizophrenic Symptoms."

Mary Churchill Fischelis came to YSN in the M. N. program in 1957. She also completed the M.S.N. program and has been on the faculty for eight years. Currently she is an Assistant Professor at YSN and Associate Director of Nursing at CMHC. In her academic position she serves as a tutor to first year students, co-leader for T-groups, advisor for Master's Report and serves on selected committees. In her clinical appointment she provides leadership in the affairs of nursing for two of the major divisions at CMHC and she has primary responsibility for the development of programs to improve the quality of nursing care. To keep her own clinical skills current Mary carries two patients in individual therapy. In private life she is Mrs. Robert Fischelis and mother of three lovely children, Peter, age 8, William, age 6 and Mia, age 2.

The YSN plan to effect a closer relationship between nursing education and nursing practice was put into operation between YSN and CMHC under the leadership of Florence Wald. Rachel Robinson and Nancy French were the first of the Psychiatric Nursing faculty to be jointly appointed by both institutions.

Rachel Robinson came to us in 1965, having served as the Director of Nursing for the Lincoln Hospital Mental Health Services in Bronx, New York and various other leadership positions in psychiatric nursing. In her position as Assistant Professor of Psychiatric Nursing at YSN and Director of Nursing at CMHC, Rachel provided the very able leadership that established nursing at CMHC and strengthened the training program at YSN. She has just returned from a years leave of absence to resume her position at YSN, to join the faculty of the Yale University Medical School, Department of Psychiatry and to begin a new role at CMHC as Associate Director of Extra-Mural Services for the Hill-West Haven Division.

Rachel is making a significant contribution to YSN this year through the development of the Extra-mural services as a clinical field for training. She also serves as an advisor for Directed Studies. Rachel is the wife of Jackie Robinson and the mother of three "young adults"; Jackie, Jr., age 23, Sharon, age 21, and David, age 17, who is entering Stamford University this year as a Freshman.

Nancy French came to us from the Massachusetts Mental Health Center in Boston. She has played a significant role in helping to lay the foundation for the current joint relationship between CMHC and YSN. As Assistant Professor of Psychiatric Nursing, Nancy tutors first year students and serves as Master's Report advisor. She also participates in courses for medical students and trainees from the Divinity School. She directs a New Careers Program that is jointly sponsored by YSN and CMHC. As Associate Director of Nursing at CMHC she has primary responsibility for nursing leadership to two of the Center's major divisions and is responsible for development of the Center's training programs for nursing personnel.

Nancy, listed in Who's Who Of American Women 1968, is Mrs. Bruce French and the mother of three very energetic boys: Michael, age 7, Barton, age 5 1/2 and Robert, age 3.

Portia F. Bowers, came to help us develop the group training component of our program. She holds a B.S. University of Maryland, M.A. in Religion, the Yale Divinity School, and is a professional member of the National Training Laboratories Institute of Applied Behavioral Sciences. Her major responsibilities at YSN are coordinator of Basic T-group (a requirement for first year students) and providing advanced group training as an elective for second year students. She is also doing research on the effect of sensitivity training in clinical and educational settings, particularly where nursing is involved. In her private life she is Mrs. Dexter Bowers and a mother of a teenage son who is in his first year of college.

Margaret Colliton has continued to do an excellent job of organizing and improving relations between YPI and YSN. She is Assistant Professor of Psychiatric Nursing and Director of Nursing Education at the Yale Psychiatric Institute. She did her undergraduate work and part of her graduate work at Catholic University and received the Doctor of Nursing Science degree from Boston University. Prior to Yale she held positions at N.I. M.H. and St. Xaviers College in Illinois. She has studied at the University of Dublin and has traveled throughout Europe as part of an investigation of mental health resources. Margaret's current responsibilities include tutoring of first year students, supervision to nursing staff and students, and co-leadership of the clinical conference for all first year students.

Carol Jean Kromberg is a graduate of our own program, Class of 1967. In her role as Clinical Specialist she has done an excellent job of developing nursing on the Research Unit of CMHC. As an Instructor in Psychiatric Nursing, she tutors first year students, serves as Master's Report Advisor and is also advisor for two directed studies, one in consultation and the other dealing with prison systems. Her research deals with the disposition of single young adult patients. After receiving her B.S.N. from Syracuse University in 1962, Carol was commissioned in the United States Navy as a Nurse Corps Officer and in 1964 she worked as a staff nurse in the Suffolk County Health Department in New York State. She is currently a member of the American Nurse's Association, a member of Sigma Theta Tau (Omicron), a nurse consultant to Elmcrest Manor and a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy Nurse Corps Ready Reserve.

Jill Churchill Tiffany graduated from the University of Washington in 1962 (B.S.) and from Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey in 1965 (M.S.). She is currently the Clinical Specialist on one of four units within the Outpatient department of the Connecticut Mental Health Center. The unit, titled Preparation for Community Living, works with chronic patients needing rehabilitation, resocialization and medication maintenance. In her role as Instructor at the School of Nursing she tutors first year students, advises Master's students, and is also co-director for an N.I. M.H. funded, five year project to conduct Psychiatric Nursing Institutes for the study of current concepts in mental health care and their implications for psychiatric nursing. Jill is Mrs. Robert Tiffany and is expecting their first child in February.

As a recent graduate of the University of Florida Master's Program Martha Harrell joined the faculty as an Assistant in Instruction and Clinical Specialist at CMHC in 1966 during which time she helped set up the Inpatient unit. Currently Martha is Instructor in Psychiatric Nursing and Clinical Specialist on a Unit for Evaluation and Brief Treatment at CMHC. Her teaching activities include co-teaching the Psychiatric Nursing Seminar, advising Master's students and Directed Studies. Her clinical responsibilities entail the nursing leadership of the total operation of her unit. She is also furthering the development of her own clinical skills in family therapy. Her current research interest is related to "Affect Transmission and its Effect on Therapeutic Effectiveness of Psychiatric Clinicians -- Especially Residents."

Mary Ann Urbin is a part-time lecturer at YSN and Clinical Specialist at the Orange Street Clinic. She received her B.S. from Loyola University in Illinois and her M.S. from St. Xaviers College. Her current responsibilities include co-leadership in the Clinical Conference, occasional participation in the Psychiatric Nursing Seminar and Directed Studies. She is also responsible for coordination of student experiences at the Orange Street Clinic.

The two most recent appointments to the faculty are Karen Morris, 1969-70 and Beth Strutzel, 1970-71.

Karen received her B.S. from the University of Buffalo and her M.S. from Rutgers. She is an Instructor in Psychiatric Nursing and a Clinical Specialist on the Emergency Treatment Unit of CMHC. Prior to appointment she worked as head nurse in the field of the Hill-West Haven Division of CMHC and held a Courtesy Faculty appointment at YSN. Her teaching responsibilities include tutorial for first year students and Directed Studies for second year students.

Beth (B.S.N., University of Minnesota) is one of our graduates, Class of 1968. She is a Clinical Specialist at YPI and an Instructor at the School of Nursing. She is responsible for supervising two first year students, co-teaching a psychiatric nursing course entitled "Psychiatry in Literature" and advisor for second year students Master's Report. Prior to this appointment Beth was in charge of developing a program for training psychiatric aides at YPI.

Mary Angela McBride has returned to work with the Psychiatric Nursing Faculty as Research Assistant to coordinate a N.I. M. H. funded project to conduct a series of Psychiatric Nursing Institutes. Angie graduated from our program in 1964 and joined the faculty that same year as Instructor in Psychiatric Nursing. In 1965 she became Mrs. William McBride and in 1968-69 she took leave to travel with her husband during his sabbatical. Prior to which she became the mother of her first daughter Catherine Alexandra. Angie returned for her part-time assignment in September 1969 and in July 1970 presented us with her second daughter, Kara Angela.

Add to the list of activities included in citations for each faculty, their combined production in research, publications, and committee work, at the local state, and national levels. Over the past year alone one would see at least six of their papers in professional journals, more than twelve more submitted for publication, approximately twelve speaking engagements fulfilled and six research projects or special programs in progress.

This faculty functions under the able leadership of Rhetaugh Dumas, Associate Professor, who has the dual role of Chairman of Psychiatric Nursing, Yale School of Nursing and Director of Nursing, Connecticut Mental Health Center.

Rhetaugh came to Yale in the summer of 1959. She completed the Master's degree and joined the faculty of the Yale School of Nursing in 1961. Since that time she has progressed through the ranks beginning as a Research Assistant to continue her study of preoperative stress in surgical patients. Her work on this problem has won her recognition as a pioneer in clinical nursing research. She has received several citations and awards for her work in community affairs and is highly respected for her contributions to nursing education and nursing service.

Rhetaugh received her bachelors in Nursing from Dillard University, New Orleans, Louisiana, following which she took special courses in education of the exceptional child (physically handicapped, mentally retarded, and the gifted) and methods in teaching, and taught in public schools of Mississippi for four years.
Prior to coming to Yale she was on the faculty of the School of Nursing at Dillard University.

Aside from the administrative responsibilities of her dual appointment, Rhetaugh advises Master's students on their research, supervises nursing staff at the Connecticut Mental Health Center, coordinates the program of study for second year Psychiatric Nursing students and from time to time serves as a small group consultant (in the Tavistock tradition) during group relations conferences.

Rhetaugh serves on several committees around the University and the New Haven Community. The most recent of these is her appointment by President Brewster to a committee on the status of academic and professional women at Yale.

She is the mother of a daughter, Adrienne who is 17 years of age and a freshman at Connecticut College in New London, Connecticut.

REPORT ON ALUMNAE COLLEGE, 1970

The 1970 Alumnae College Program was centered around the Yale School of Nursing's involvement in the Connecticut Regional Medical Program. The Regional Medical Program, instituted in October 1965 through PL 89-239, provides for education, research, training and demonstration in heart disease, cancer, stroke and related diseases. Connecticut is organized into two regions, each composed of 5 sub-regions, and each tied to one of the two University Medical Centers, Yale or the University of Connecticut.

The goal of the program in Connecticut is to deliver comprehensive, high quality health care to the entire Connecticut population. To achieve the goal, local performance of medical activities needs to be strengthened, which in turn involves organized planning for fullest working arrangements among local hospitals, health agencies, extended care facilities and physicians. It also involves finding ways to make available to local practitioners the special competencies of the medical centers.

The Yale Medical Center has developed a far-reaching project under the C.R.M.P. Funds to carry out the project have made possible the expansion of an educational program which has been underway for many years at Yale. Dr. R. John C. Pearson, Associate Dean for Regional Activities of the Yale Medical School described the impact on medical care in Connecticut made through the years by Yale. For fifteen years, a continuing education program has been offered for physicians of the State. Many hospitals have Yale men on their staffs and patients have been sent to the Yale-New Haven Hospital for care from all over the State. Yale medical personnel, however, have not gone out to other hospitals. Yale needs men on the staff who can go out to work with physicians in community hospitals, and needs men in the local hospitals who can be appointed to the Yale Medical Staff on a part-time basis. One of the most important features of the C.R.M.P. program is the stipulation that Yale will work in a community only if all hospitals in the town work together. The benefits to the entire community from this policy have been very rewarding.

The Yale School of Nursing has been represented on the Medical Center's Committee on Regional Activities and last September received a grant award from the C.R.M.P. to carry out a project of its own. In September Mrs. Mary LeLouis was appointed Assistant to the Dean for Continuing Education. She has visited all the hospitals and many of the schools of nursing, health agencies, and extended care facilities in the Southwestern Region to determine their educational needs and to learn how the nurses feel the Yale School of Nursing can help them. Many hospitals have exceptional resources within their own sub regions. Mrs. LeLouis has helped to identify these resources, and several educational programs have been established at the local level. Primary emphasis so far has been on giving help to nurses in leadership roles—inservice education personnel, supervisors, head nurses -- so they will be able to assist their own nursing staffs to study needs and to institute changes. One of the strengths of the Yale C.R.M.P. program is the opportunity for medicine and nursing to work together in a continuing education program for doctors and nurses in community hospitals.
Not all C.R.M.P. programs in Connecticut are tied into the Yale project. Two members of the Yale School of Nursing faculty who are involved in other aspects of the program briefly described their activities:

Virginia Henderson has participated in the development of a regional library network and is a member of the task force which is concerned with provision of quality care for the victims of stroke.

Maryann Pranulis is an informal consultant in coronary care programs to the headquarters staff of C.R.M.P.

The afternoon session was devoted to a panel discussion of the Continuing Care program at the Yale-New Haven Medical Center, a C.R.M.P. sponsored project. Dr. Harold Willard, Medical Director of the Continuing Care Unit which is located on the seventh floor of the Memorial Unit, explained the philosophy behind the program. Every acute hospital has responsibility for patients that goes beyond their immediate need for treatment. Patients should remain in the hospital unit the community can take over which means the institution must know what facilities the community has to offer. For example, if there is no public health nurse the patient should remain longer in the hospital. The Y-NHH continuing care unit cannot keep a patient longer than six weeks so those patients needing more care are followed on an outpatient basis.

Jane Ryzewski the clinical nurse specialist assigned to the unit described the criteria used in determining a patient's eligibility for transfer to the C.C.U. and the process of screening which is done by the C.C.U. nurse, doctor, and social worker. A nurse from the C.C.U. orients the patient before transfer so he will know what to expect. In the C.C.U. the patient is involved in his own care. The patient and staff meet regularly to discuss problems and make plans for care. The staff team -- doctor, nurse, social worker, physical therapist -- talk with patient and family about discharge plans.

Staff members, Brenda Munn, physical therapist and Marilyn Beach, public health nurse, described their activities in relation to the patients. Mrs. Ruth Mazer, public health nurse and Associate Director of Nursing, discussed the discharge planning process in the various areas of the hospital indicating that the success of such a process depends upon social work coverage, activity of nurses in case finding, interest of the doctors, and awareness of the patient of his own needs.

Mr. Arthur Mazer, Administrative Coordinator for the Continuing Care program, bemoaned the fact that although New Haven has many services for patients there is no system to see that patients get these services. Dr. Willard is tackling this problem of follow-up care. No patient leaves the C.C.U. without adequate transfer information. The social worker, nurse and physical therapist visit the home prior to discharge and make plans with the family for the patient's homecoming. An active effort has been made to involve nursing homes in planning for patients with the result that many barriers have been broken down and consultation from the hospital is being requested.

Mrs. Mazer emphasized the need for discharge planning to spread throughout the institution. A workable system can be implemented on acute care divisions without jeopardizing care of patients but a commitment to the program by hospital administrators, nurse administrators and the medical board is essential. Essential also is an inservice program for nurses, directors (?), and social workers regarding referrals, and a close working relationship with community agencies.

Alumnae Association Annual Meeting

Time: 10:45 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.
Place: Classroom Yale University School of Nursing 38 South Street, New Haven
Date: June 6, 1970
Call to order:

The meeting was called to order by Mary Hirata, President.

Comments Mrs. Hirata:

Prior to the start of the "official meeting", Mrs. Hirata announced that names had been suggested for the new building.

Motion:

It was moved by E. Voorhees and seconded by M. Jayne to recommend that this new "temporary" building be officially named the "Annie W. Goodrich" Building. Amendment:

The motion was amended by V. Hulbert to make this name the permanent name of the Yale School of Nursing Building. Seconded by M. Jayne. Motion was carried.

Secretary's Report - R. Benedict:

The secretary's report of the Annual Meeting of 1969 was accepted as read by the current secretary.

Treasurer's Report - M. Colwell:

The treasurer's report and proposed budget for 1970-71 were accepted as circulated. See Appendix A and B.

Discussion:

A lengthy discussion followed the presentation of the budget. Pertinent questions were asked with regard to the relative value of restricted (i.e., giving to the Annie W. Goodrich Fund) versus unrestricted Alumnae giving. Dean Arnstein reviewed with the members present, how the Annie W. Goodrich Fund is presently used (a visiting professorship on alternating years), and how it could be utilized to fund a permanent "chair" if the fund were larger. The use made of unrestricted funds was also discussed. For example, these monies have been used for:

1. Needed faculty appointments prior to the fiscal year
2. Travel (by faculty) to professional meetings
3. Equipment needed by the school
4. Student loans which are not available through Yale University (i.e., for foreign students)

It was pointed out that unrestricted funds given to Yale University are made available to the school. Dean Arnstein emphasized that, should the Annie W. Goodrich Fund become adequate to finance a permanent chair, the choice of the candidate to fill the position would be carefully considered and would be ultimately made by the Yale Corporation, on recommendation of the School of Nursing Executives. The consensus was that Alumnae Giving which was "fluid" (both restricted and unrestricted) represented the most useful arrangement, and that this current practice should be continued.

Y.U.S.N.A.A. Newsletter:

A special commendation was made by M. Jayne, and affirmed by the members present to Miss Marion Weinberger, Newsletter Editor, for her exceptionally interesting Newsletters of this past year.

Effie Taylor, Dean Emeritus Expires:

Mrs. Hirata reported that word was received of the death, on May 20th of Miss Effie Taylor, in Canada. A Memorial Fund will be instituted to support scholarships of foreign students. On motion of M. Jayne, the association will send a letter to Miss Taylor's family expressing the sympathy of the Association on the occasion of Miss Taylor's death.

Report of Capital Fund Raising:

Mrs. Howard Benedict (Ruth Landau '48) who has generously offered her services as coordinator of the Capital Development Drive, gave a report of her activities this past year. Highlights of her report involve the re-institution of the "basic" program.

Remarks on the New Proposed "Basic-Graduate Program" - Dean Arnstein:

Dean Arnstein gave a general report of the activities of this past year with respect to the proposed new "Basic-Graduate" program. A report on the development of this unique program which will combine some features of the old MN Program, and the current MSN Program, was made. Special recognition was given to the faculty who have worked diligently to draw up the plans for the new program. They are:

Jean Barrett
Ann Slavinsky '67
Carol Kromberg '67
Roberta Fitzgerald '66

Comments - Mrs. Benedict:

Since this proposed "Basic-Graduate" program has been approved by the Yale Corporation, funds have to be raised in order to make the plan a reality. Alumnae support is now more than ever desperately needed. The twofold emphasis on fund raising is now and will continue to be:

1. To strengthen the response of the alumnae to annual giving
2. Support by alumnae and appeals to other "large donors," who will hopefully respond to a special drive. In conjunction with the latter, Yale's Development office will lend its assistance in the design of a program of appeals.

Finally, Mrs. Benedict reported that a plan is being finalized to re-institute Regional Groups of Y.U.S.N.A.A. It is hoped that these groups will serve in an advisory capacity, for multi purposes, including fund raising.

Presentation of an Honorary Alumnae Association Membership to Miss Jean Barrett:

On behalf of the Alumnae Association, President Hirata presented an honorary membership and plaque, to Miss Jean Barrett, in recognition of her long standing devotion to the students and alumnae of the Yale School of Nursing.

Election of Officers for the Year 1970-71

E. Day:

274 ballots were cast. Results were:

President Mary Hirata (Incumbent)
Treasurer Shirley Parkhill '47
Board of Directors Marion Russell '56
Harriet White '43

Nominating Committee

Aldyth Longshore Claiborn
Esther Dunn Milici
Margaret Perry Pearce

Gratitude to retiring Board Members was expressed by Mrs. Hirata, on behalf of the association to:

Roberta Fitzgerald '67
Thelma Thornton '61
Mary Colwell '50

Adjournment:

The meeting was adjourned at 12:20 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Mary Jane Kennedy '68
Recording Secretary

PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT
1969-1970

I. General Meetings

A. Yale Alumni Day, February 21, 1970. YSN Alumnae gathered in Brady Auditorium to hear faculty members Audrey McCluskey, Associate Professor of Public Health Nursing, and Katherine Buckley Nuckolls, Associate Professor of Pediatric Nursing, describe their programs. Brief resume given in Spring Newsletter.

B. Annual Meeting, June 6, 1970, 38 South Street. The new program was discussed. See "Minutes of Annual Meeting" elsewhere in this Newsletter.

II. Board Meetings

The Executive Board of the Alumnae Association met six times during this past year. Major topics of discussion were the new program and fund raising to support it. Dean Arnstein and Executive Secretary Elizabeth Smith Day '52 attended meetings.

III. New Program Accepted

Definitely the biggest news this year was the announcement that the curriculum of YSN will eventually be converted into a three-year program combining basic training with specialty training leading to a Master of Science in Nursing degree, providing the necessary funds are raised. The Dean, along with Mrs. Howard M. Benedict, Coordinator of Fund Raising, and Mrs. Hirata, have met several times during the year with officers of the Yale Office of University Development to discuss methods to raise sufficient funds to employ the first planning faculty in 1971.

Briefly, most of the first two years of the proposed program will provide the college graduate with the so-called "basic" nursing education. She will choose her specialty area sometime during the second year, and thus can complete her Master of Science in Nursing by the end of the third year.

IV. Yale School of Nursing Alumnae Fund

Under the Chairmanship of Janet S. Hine, '47W, and Co-chairman, Joy Ruth Cohen, '63, the Fund reached a new record high of $10,393. The number of $100 contributors increases each year. We would like to double the Alumnae Fund and raise $20,000 annually. Our sincere thanks to all the class agents for the time and effort they have spent in making this such a successful year.

V. Reunions

A number of classes had special get-togethers at the time of the Alumnae College and Annual Meeting. The largest class reunion was the 30th reunion of the Class of 1940. In the short space of a few weeks, they collected a reunion gift of $600 which they presented to Dean Arnstein to be put in the Annie W. Goodrich Fund.

VI. Newsletter

Three issues of the Newsletter come out each year, under the direction of Marian Weinberger '45. Several members of the Board usually meet with her a week before a Newsletter goes to the printers to write articles and compile information. If you move, get a new job, get married, have a baby, write a book, let us know! We (and your classmates) are also interested in news of your family. Send items to Marian at 38 South Street, New Haven, Conn. 06510, c/o YUNSN.

VII. Annie W. Goodrich Fund

Begun in the early 1950's and named for the founder of the school and first Dean, this fund now amounts to $184,488.98 (the official figure as of March, 1970). At present the income from this provides for a visiting professor every other year. We want to build this up to $400,000, so that the school may have a professor each year. As mentioned above, the reunion gift of the Class of 1940 will be added to this fund. Many alumnae request that their contribution to the Yale Alumni Fund be put in the Annie W. Goodrich Fund. This can be done by simply making a note to this effect on the card sent to all alumnae in October.

VIII. Yale Alumni Placement Service

At the request of the Chairman of the Yale Alumni Board, Melville Chapin, the Board of Y.U.S.N.A.A. made a $25 contribution to the Alumni Placement Service. The Service is located in the Yale Club in New York City but serves a national function. It provides both career counseling and placement. We encourage our alumnae to make use of this service. The address is 50 Vanderbilt Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

Respectfully submitted,
Mary K. Hirata, President

ELIZABETH WOODBURY WILKINSON RETIRES

The following is excerpted from the New Haven Journal Courier August 28, 1970:

"Nursing in the infirmary of a 200-pupil boys' school sounds like enough work to keep a dozen people busy, but it's just what Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkinson has in mind for retirement.

"Mrs. Wilkinson, associate director of nursing at the Memorial Unit of Yale-New Haven Hospital, will retire today after more than 30 years full-time service.

"An assistant to the director of nursing, Miss Anne Ryle, Mrs. Wilkinson has been responsible for supervision of nurses in the 800-bed hospital. In September she will begin work at the infirmary of the Gunnery, a boys' preparatory school in Washington, Conn."
"Nursing is a wonderful profession for a woman, she maintained, because there are so many facts, such as hospital work, public health, teaching and private nursing. A woman can always go back to some phase of it, at least part time.

"Her enthusiasm for the medical profession apparently spread to her sons, Donald and Lawson Jr. Both married nurses and Donald is assistant administrator of the Waterbury hospital.

"Mrs. Wilkinson was brought up in Boston. She attended Pembroke for two years, then transferred to the Yale School of Nursing where she was awarded her bachelor's degree in 1932. She was married that year and began nursing at the Institute of Human Relations of the Yale Psychiatric Institute.

"By 1935 she was head nurse of the surgical unit of Tompkins I of what was then called New Haven Hospital. From 1937 to 1954, she was evening supervisor and also worked part-time as a surgical supervisor in the day time. She had brief leaves of absence when her sons were born and she took a year off to nurse her husband, who died in 1952 after open heart surgery.

"In 1954 she became the assistant director of nursing, and has held that position until retirement. In 1957 she earned her master's degree in nursing services administration from Columbia.

"She helped to design the first intensive care unit in the hospital and in 1963 she helped to organize the first Institute for the Special Care of Newborn and Premature Infants.

"She has also been active outside the hospital. She has been on the steering committee for the Department of Hospital Nursing of the National League for Nursing, and served on the Board of Directors of the Connecticut Nurses' Association.

"She received two 3-year appointments from Gov. John N. Dempsey to serve on the Board of Nurse Examiners. This group administers examinations twice a year to nurses seeking registered nurse accreditation.

"Mrs. Wilkinson is looking forward to her retirement and her new career at Gunnery. Having brought up two sons, she said, she feels she'll enjoy working at the school.

"She plans to use her summer vacations traveling in Europe or perhaps the Caribbean. 'I gave my sons an education, so now I plan to travel and I look forward to enjoying life,' she smiled.

"'There are hundreds of things to do when you retire and there are loads of people who need you,' she said."

Mrs. Wilkinson is a former Alumnae Board member. We will miss seeing Mrs. Wilkinson's familiar face and cheerful "Hello there!" around YNHH. We know she will find a happy niche for herself and be meeting the needs of many who have the good fortune to be near her.

ALUMNAE FUND GIVING HELPS MAINTAIN INCREASED ENROLLMENT

Twelve students currently enrolled are now receiving partial scholarship assistance from School of Nursing Alumni Fund receipts.

In the past decade Nursing has relied heavily upon the United States Public Health Service training grants to provide financial assistance for graduate students in Nursing. The primary grants awarded to this School have come from the Division of Nursing and the National Institute of Mental Health.

The application for funds submitted in the spring of '70 reflected the anticipated increase in enrollment from 44 to 56. The award from the Division of Nursing was received in late June. While it showed an increase over the previous year's award, it fell far short of the amount required to support all eligible students.

The School's regularly established scholarship and loan funds were completely allocated. Individual students sought financial aid from a variety of other sources. As late as mid August a desperate need was still felt. Dean Arnstein carefully checked all possible sources, and with much relief found that the School of Nursing Alumni Fund money could be used for student aid.

As you know the YSN Alumni Fund requests a gift from each graduate every year. The receipts from this fund are turned over to the School annually at the end of the campaign on June 30th. Alumnae Association expenses are reimbursed, and the remainder is placed in an account to be used for the School's benefit at the discretion of the Dean. Activities supported last year from this account included recruitment, faculty travel to meetings and partial defrayment of expenses for a two day School Retreat. In addition $5,000 was transferred to the principal of the Annie W. Goodrich Fund.

Harrington, in his book THE OTHER AMERICA, described the plight of the graduate student as one of "transitional poverty". We have yet to see signs of malnutrition, but you might be interested to know how the average student must manage in 1970-71.

A USPHS Traineeship provides full tuition and a living stipend related to the number of years of full-time professional nursing experience the student has had. The new graduate proceeding directly into a master's program may be awarded a living stipend of $200 per month ($6.67/day); the most experienced nurse may be granted a maximum of $300 per month. Our federal funds were stretched by appointing all students at the minimal allowance, forfeiting differentials permitted for work experience, and the second year of study. Those on traineeship this year receive a total of $4,237. Of that amount $2,550 bypasses them directly to the Bursar's office for tuition. The remaining $1,687 is to see the student through eight months and thirteen days of room, board, books, recreation, etc.

A few students live in University Housing such as Helen Hadley Hall ($400 for a double, $500 for a single room) and have charge cards enabling them to use University Dining Services. Breakfast costs $1.05, lunch $1.25 and dinners are $2.25. A number of students still grace the upper floors of Sterling Dorm where single rooms may be rented for $52.00 per month. All may use the Hospital dining services on a pay as you go basis. We hear they occasionally pool resources and vary the menu with a top of the stove spaghetti dinner in the dorm. Others share or have their own apartments, and four enterprising second year students have leased the New Haven home of a Yale Professor currently on sabbatical leave.

The class of 1972 has twenty-nine students; eight in Maternal and Newborn, four in Pediatrics, seven in Public Health and ten in Psychiatric Nursing. Five of the students finished their basic preparation only last spring. Others have been working anywhere from one to twelve years. The young graduate has had little time to earn money to put toward further educational expenses. The experienced graduate accustomed to her $7,000-$10,000 salary finds the reduction to even the highest stipend level an eye-opening experience. Ten of the new students are married and needless to say family income has been seriously cut. Perhaps the most courageous is the family of eight who completely relocated so that mother could take advantage of this "once in a lifetime opportunity" to earn her M.S. N. at Yale.

The first male student in the country preparing for Nurse-Midwifery certification in Yale's Maternal and Newborn Nursing program is receiving partial support from the Veteran's Administration. Two Canadian students are being supported by the Department of Health Training, Ontario, Canada. A Nigerian student is sponsored by the World Health Organization. Smaller awards have been given to two students from the American College of Nurse-Midwifery and the Connecticut Commission on Higher Education.

REUNION CLASSES

Plans are going forward in preparation for the new basic-graduate program. The actual time it will start depends on securing the necessary funds. Your continued support of the school through the Yale Alumni Fund is a tremendous help during this interim period. Your dollars are put to work for YSN -- present and future!

Four of '30 came to the Annual Meeting and Alumnae Luncheon: Hazel Bowles from Northampton; Elizabeth Armstrong Bucholz from Woodbridge, Connecticut; Tony Daniels from New Haven; and Mildred Negus from Washington, D.C. Hazel has retired from her nursing job at Smith College. Elizabeth and her husband moved to Florida this summer to escape the rigors of winter in New England. (See address changes). In June she received a citation from the New Haven V. N. A. for her 39 years of service, both as R.N. and volunteer, and several times as a Board member. Mildred Negus is working as a freelancing nursing consultant, frequently traveling abroad, and recently to Canada and Hawaii. Tony is working as a clinic nurse at the Yale Dept. of Univ. Health. 1945 and 1945W

Peggy Perry Pearce (Mrs. Herbert) was the lone member of the class to participate in Reunion Meetings. She joined the 6 or 7 members of the class of 1945W for luncheon and found many news items to exchange. Better luck in 1975!

Present at the Alumnae Luncheon were Dolores Plummer Aita from Long Island, Mary Cushman Colwell from North Haven, Norma Gardner from New Hampshire, and Theresa Shea Valentine from Long Island. Mary Colwell is retiring Treasurer of the Y.U.S.N. Alumnae Association.

1955
News was enthusiastically exchanged at the Alumnae Luncheon by 6 members of the class: Carolyn Weiss, Margaret Scherm Benton, Frances Sherman Dostal, Elaine Roy Gariepy, Lorraine Mustoe, and Mathilda Soliday Gontarski (ex 55).

CLASS NOTES

1945
Marian Weinberger, your editor, missed her 25th reunion because she was walking, hiking, cruising, bus riding in Greece and the Aegean Islands in early June for 3 weeks. The ruins were extremely interesting. They gave me such a real sense of the history of civilizations. A truly beautiful country.

1947
Sylvia Drake Paige (Mrs. Harry) is a medical Surgical Nursing Instructor at the University of Maine School of Nursing.

1950
Virginia M. Paulson, who is Director, Dept. of Nursing at Abbott-Northwestern Hospital in Minneapolis, was elected a Vice-President of the A.N.A. in May.

Jean Butler is now Director of Ambulatory Services at Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York.

Evelyn Sturmer writes us this note "The month of May was spent 2 weeks in Sicily exploring "all" the Greek ruins on the island -- lovelier ruins I have never seen; a half week in Tunisia. While in Tunis, visited and dined on the S.S. Hope where I saw many old friends -- Grace Tucker, previously a Yale-New Haven supervisor was chief nurse on the ship. We then made an 8 day archeological tour of Tunisia visiting and enjoying all the Roman ruins.

1957
Mary Schaffle Randall had a fabulous trip around the world this summer, seeing a few YSN alumnae along the way. First stop was Lisbon, followed by a week in southern Spain, then on to the Passion Play in Oberammergau; next to Innsbruck and Munich and on to Teheran, Iran. In India she visited Delhi and Benares. In Bangkok, she saw Joceline Kumm Alexander; Joceline is teaching mothers classes, has two boys and one girl, and her husband Charles, a Yale Med Alumnus, is adviser to the Royal Thai Navy in preventive medicine. Next stop was Hong Kong and on to Expo '70 in Japan. In Korea she saw Betty Shipp Crousie, who is teaching at Yonsei University School of Nursing in Seoul. Her husband is an evangelist missionary. Mary flew home via Fairbanks, Alaska. How to go around the world in a mere 60 days -- not 80!

1970
We, the Alumnae of the Yale School of Nursing, welcome you as members of a growing Alumnae Association. We look forward to seeing you often at reunions and joining us in our efforts to assist in maintaining a school which has endeavored to create leadership in the field of nursing. Good luck and best wishes.

Send us news of yourselves. Items may be sent to Editor, Yale School of Nursing Alumnae Newsletter, 38 Park St., c/o Miss Marion Weinberger

Kate Hyder, presently Professor of Maternal, New Born and Well Child Nursing at the University of Connecticut School of Nursing, and formerly with YSN, was hospitalized at Y-NHH this past August with a disc. She is much better now and back teaching with her usual vigor and enthusiasm.

THIS 'N THAT

Up up and away! Two more floors are being added to the Memorial Unit of Yale-New Haven Hospital for inpatient services. It is expected to be completed in two years.

The last mass was held on Sunday, October 18, at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, located at Davenport Avenue and South Street. It will be demolished to make way for expansion of the Yale-New Haven Hospital. Eventually a multi-story hospital bed facility will be constructed, joined to the Memorial Unit by a pavilion. The land was originally obtained by the first resident Catholic pastor in New Haven in 1833 for $100. The present church was built in 1858. A new all-purpose church building is nearing completion to serve the community, at Sylvan Avenue and Auburn Street, in the center of the parish.

YSN is at present located in the adjacent school building long used by the parish. The address is 38 South Street. Plans call for the school to move to its permanent location in the present Child Study Center within a few years.
