Mary Jane Kennedy '68 accepts the Yale Alumni Fund Chairman's Award at the Alumni Fund Convocation Weekend.
From the Dean

It was not very long ago that you all received a letter from me, updating you on developments at YSN (and pleading for money). By the time you read this column we will be nearly finished with Fall semester and looking ahead to Spring semester. Much is happening in this seventieth year of YSN! We plan to honor the occasion of our 70th Anniversary with a special celebration on April 21, 1993 at the Sybil Palmer Bellos Lecture and the Wisser Tea, so hold the date and plan on attending.

We have launched our new Nursing Systems and Policy Program with two fulltime and two parttime students enrolled. Cassy Pollack, Division Chair, and Donna Diers, Director of Policy Studies, have developed an exciting curriculum which cross-lists several courses with Epidemiology and Public Health and equips nurses to enter, explore, and influence the health systems environment. The curriculum addresses the uses of data in decision-making, informatics, financing, and organization and management concepts in a nursing context. We have developed a recruitment plan and hope to enroll a large class in the Fall.

Under the able stewardship of Professor Dorothy Sexton, the DNSc Program planning effort is well underway. As you may recall, the Yale Corporation approved the concept of a doctoral program in nursing at the April, 1992 meetings. This Fall the Education and Policy Committee of the Yale Corporation reviewed the proposed curriculum and at the November 14th meeting the Yale Corporation officially voted to award the DNSc degree to graduates of the program. So, we are now fully authorized to launch the program! It is our plan to admit the first students to the DNSc program in the Fall of 1995. We will provide you with more details of the curriculum in another issue of Yale Nurse.

As you know, Yale launched a five year capital campaign called And for Yale... in May, 1992. YSN is part of the campaign effort and we anticipate publishing a YSN campaign brochure shortly after the first of the year. We will also include a special YSN Campaign insert in the next Yale Nurse and will do so annually to keep you updated. I want you to know that every penny you give to the Yale Campaign will come to the School of Nursing (unless you designate otherwise). We are organizing a YSN Campaign Committee, chaired by Sandy Bialos '71, which will provide leadership for the five year effort. You will be asked to make a special and separate gift to the YSN Campaign on the occasion of your reunion. Those of you who will celebrate a reunion this year will be contacted after January concerning your Campaign gift/pledge. It is important that you consider your Campaign gift as a separate gift from your Annual Fund gift – in other words, we will ask you to give twice on the occasion of your reunion (once to the Annual Fund and once to the Campaign). Our goal is to keep the Annual Fund growing alongside the special Campaign Fund effort.

I consider the YSN Campaign the capstone of the past five years of growth and development at the School. If we are successful we will leave a long legacy for the future generations of YSN students and faculty, indeed a legacy for nursing and health care. Caring and care-giving is woefully undervalued and under funded in this country. It should be our collective goal in this Campaign to value nursing, make visible the leadership role of the Yale School of Nursing, and in so doing, give caring and care-giving a rightful place in the reform of our health care system.
Ann Williams Leads AIDS Delegation to Eastern Europe

With the falling of the Iron Curtain and the worldwide spread of HIV, the virus that causes AIDS, international cooperation is growing both to improve AIDS treatment and reduce the rate of HIV infection. Through an exchange program called People to People International, the Yale School of Nursing is helping the cause.

Last spring, Ann Williams ‘81, an Associate Professor at the School of Nursing, led a People to People delegation of 35 persons from throughout the United States to Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary where they discussed HIV prevention and the management of AIDS. The group, comprising nurses, physicians, social workers, counselors, and people with HIV, met with their counterparts abroad, exchanged information and compared experiences in fighting AIDS. “We were welcomed with enthusiasm and openness everywhere,” Ann reports. “The greatest need was for information and training.” Ann explains that as in the United States, the HIV epidemic in Eastern Europe is really a series of mini-epidemics, each with its own characteristics. In Poland, for example, the epidemic resembles that of the Northeastern United States, where the majority of HIV-infected people are injecting drug users. In Hungary and Czechoslovakia, AIDS has been reported primarily among gay men.

As a result of this trip, Hanna Trocha, a physician from the AIDS Clinic in Gdansk, Poland, came to Connecticut in July to visit community AIDS services in New Haven and to spend a day at the Women’s Correctional Facility in Niantic. Also, an ongoing “sister city” exchange between those involved with AIDS programs in New Haven and Gdansk is under discussion with input from Ann, the World AIDS Foundation, and others.

Another result of the delegation’s trip was the visit of Blanka Misconiova, chief nurse of the Czech Republic, to the School of Nursing in September. As a member of former Prime Minister Vasclav Havel’s Civic Forum party, she has been part of her country’s Velvet Revolution. Since the time her position was created less than two years ago - Ms. Misconiova has developed legal guidelines for nurses in private practice, introduced consumer choice into the health care system, and instituted a general health insurance program. At Yale, she gave a seminar on the role of nurses in the changing Czech society and spent time with faculty, students, and YSN alumnae/i in practice and classroom settings. “The hunger for education among Czech nurses is most visible in the university, where nurses now have an opportunity for higher education. Nursing autonomy is linked to basic changes in the educational system. In the past, entering nursing students were 14-15 year olds who followed a four year course and received a certificate,” Blanca reports. Additionally, Ms. Misconiova had opportunities to observe at Yale-New Haven Hospital and meet with officials from the Connecticut Nurses’ Association and the State Department of Health. One of the highlights of her visit was a day spent at the Hole in the Wall Gang Camp with pediatric AIDS care providers across the state.

People to people: American health-care providers and patients meet with HIV patients at a Warsaw-area home for drug abusers with AIDS.
UPDATE – Nursing Systems and Policy Program

Exciting things have been happening in the newest program at YSN and it’s a good time to update our alum. The master’s program in Nursing Systems and Policy is fully operational with the first class having been admitted this past fall and new relationships being forged with the Medical School and Yale-New Haven Hospital.

The curriculum for the new master’s program includes work in research methods, community and organizational planning, data management, health policy, finance, use of data in decision-making, regulation, a group and an individual practicum, and the thesis. The Nursing Systems and Policy program is designed to equip experienced nurses to enter, explore, and influence the health systems environment. To do this, nurses must be well educated in the working of systems, generation of health policy, medical informatics, and sophisticated use of data in the decision-making process. The intent is to foster critical thinking and decision-making as it influences direct patient care, the care delivery system, and the health policy arena.

The Nursing Systems and Policy Program has also recently begun a project with the School of Medicine to electronically network the entire medical center complex so that clinical information is readily available whenever and wherever our faculty and students may require access. This will facilitate our research, increase collaboration among the various health care professionals at Yale, and open new opportunities for world-wide communication.

Two of our students came to YSN this fall explicitly for the new program. Donna Boehm is a joint degree candidate with the School of Epidemiology and Public Health. Prior to her life at Yale, Donna directed the case management program in a home for people with AIDS and has been actively involved with AIDS related issues for over five years. Before her interest in AIDS began to develop, Donna was a missionary nurse in The Gambia, West Africa providing perinatal care and teaching basic nursing skills and health practices to Gambian women. When asked what brought her to Yale, she stated, “I have found that in order to be an effective program administrator, one needs a good understanding of two worlds: the small system where plans and programs are developed and the bigger one of health care, political, economic, and social systems. It’s imperative for nurses to be a part of both worlds. I came to Yale so I could learn how to be an active participant in creating change.”

Carol Ann Wetmore came to Yale with many nursing "firsts," including being the first person to simultaneously receive a bachelor's in nursing and a bachelor's in management at the University of Connecticut and the first Financial Manager at Yale-New Haven Hospital to hold a nursing degree. In addition, Carol Ann has experience working in an emergency room, as a head nurse on a medical unit, and in a medical intensive care unit.

Carol views a master’s degree from the Nursing Systems and Policy program as an important next step in her career. “I believe nurses are in a unique position to influence health care policy. The need to quickly and correctly assess an organization’s climate and to have the ability to further its cause has never been as critical as it is today. I am particularly excited about this program for it combines a clinical practice with policy issues and is centered in the School of Nursing.”

It is important to attract the inquisitive and the caring nurse, the sensitive and the experienced nurse, the generalist and the specialized nurse. The program is new and recruitment efforts are in process. You as alumnae/i of the Yale School of Nursing can be the eyes and ears for the School. As you go about your practice, look at those around you and think of YSN and the Nursing Systems and Policy Program. Please send any names and addresses of possible candidates to Cassy Pollack, Program Director, in care of the School, or encourage them to contact her directly.
Lois Sadler New PNP Program Director

Having left the faculty of the School of Nursing several years ago to pursue doctoral study, Lois Siebert Sadler '79 has rejoined the YSN faculty as Program Director of the Pediatric Nurse Practitioner Program. Lois comes from an impressive educational and professional background beginning with a BSN degree from the University of Massachusetts (Amherst) in 1974, a brief time at New York University in a master's program, an MSN from Yale in 1979, and culminating with her current doctoral work in the School of Family Studies at the University of Connecticut. As a new BSN graduate Lois moved to New York City where for three years she worked at University Hospital, New York University Medical Center, in the adolescent inpatient and pediatric intensive care units, first as a staff nurse and then as a team leader and assistant head nurse. Her first academic appointment was as an Instructor at YSN in the PNP Program, where she ultimately was promoted to Assistant Professor. While on faculty at YSN she also practiced as a pediatric nurse practitioner at the Primary Care Center and Adolescent Clinic at Yale-New Haven Hospital, and taught family life education and parenting to adolescents in the New Haven public school system. Lois continues this important work with adolescents at the Polly McCabe Center in New Haven which offers a public school program to pregnant middle and high school students helping them make the difficult transition to parenthood. The program offers academic coursework, as well as prenatal and postpartum classes, and acts as a very important social service network to this group of young women. Lois's doctoral research focuses on the process of intergenerational child rearing among urban African American adolescent mothers and their families and comes from a long standing commitment to this population.

Lois is excited about returning to YSN armed with a new understanding of bodies of theories and research literature. She thrives on being in the kind of collegial setting where she can integrate her new knowledge into nursing through clinical practice, teaching, and research. "It is nice to return to nursing after exposure to a whole other set of academic disciplines at U Conn. This [YSN] is a setting where it all comes together!" she says.

Lois and her husband Rick, a child psychiatrist, have two children, Elizabeth, 10, and Christopher, 6.
YSN Says Farewell to Four Seasoned Staff Members

It was an occasion of great celebration and sadness late in August when the YSN community bade farewell to four longtime staff members who retired from the University after many years of devoted and expert service to the students and faculty of our school. At a lovely reception in their honor at Dean Judy Krauss’s home, Georgi Antonelli, Elizabeth “Tinker” Barnett, Joan Fettes, and Dolores Leona were applauded by former deans, faculty, and fellow staff members for their dedication, loyalty, and sense of humor through a combined total of 78 years of service to YSN. In tribute to our colleagues who took advantage of the University’s early retirement offer, Judy and former Dean and YSN Bard Florence Wald entertained the group with humorous poems and anecdotes that highlighted the careers of these folks who all look forward to retirement with good health and great anticipation.

After having spent a number of years as a homemaker raising two children, Alan and Diane, Georgi first worked outside the home at the Connecticut Laborers Health and Welfare Fund in West Haven, CT. She spent her first ten years at Yale in the Pediatric Department of the Medical School and later as secretary to two very busy OB-GYN doctors. Georgi transferred to the Dean’s office at YSN and spent seven happy years there. When asked what she liked most about her career at YSN she immediately said, “the people.” In her newly found spare time Georgi plans to indulge one of her first loves, travel, and also spend time with her grandson, John, and her friends who have been just waiting for her to retire. Her spouse, Walt, who retired two years ago, will have a hard time keeping up with her!

Tinker began and ended her career at YSN! She was Assistant to Deans Florence Wald and Donna Diers, and then became the Financial Aid Officer, a role she relished and occupied for the latter part of her service to YSN.

Having graduated from Mt. Holyoke, Tinker came straight to YSN as a student and earned the MN degree in 1948. She taught in a school of nursing in the Boston area for a few years and then moved with her young family to New Haven in 1959. She became very active with the YUSNA Board, serving as President for two terms, prior to her employment years. Although she has loved the people contacts she experienced in her job, Tinker disliked the “deadlines!” Retirement means being able to do all the things she hasn’t done in a long time, especially getting to know her New Hampshire property better. For the moment, however, she will be entertaining crowds of out of town visitors who have planned to take advantage of her warm, New Haven style hospitality!

Of her 26 years at Yale, Joan Fettes spent 17 of them at the School of Nursing, first in the old Research Department at 38 South Street and finally as a senior administrative assistant in the Adult Division. Wife, mother, and secretary before beginning her career at Yale, Joan states unequivocally that her favorite memories have to do with the people with whom she has worked, and the supportive environment that YSN offers. Not wild about the commute across the Quinnipiac Bridge every day, Joan plans to stay closer to her home in Branford, when she is not travelling to New Hampshire where she and her husband, Frank, share a cottage with friends. An avid sportswoman – golf, tennis, swimming, cross-country skiing – she is thrilled about not being “bound by a schedule” and being able to do all the things she never seemed to find the time for before!

Dolores Leona – practically synonymous with YSN, having held just about every position the School had to offer throughout four different deanships! Dolores began her working career in the travel industry and moved to the role of admitting officer at Yale-New Haven Hospital before coming to YSN in 1966. She has relished her various jobs at the School and found the interaction with the students particularly rewarding. The Psychiatric-Mental Health Nursing Program was her home away from home for years and many have known her unfailing support and guidance – faculty, students, and staff alike. A well known figure in the halls of YSN, she will be sorely missed. Always full of energy, Dolores plans to volunteer in her community of East Haven, particularly as an ombudsman for senior citizens, and would love to participate in the grandmother program in the Newborn Special Care Unit at Yale-New Haven Hospital. She clearly states that she will not be bored!

WHAT’S YOUR FAVORITE RECIPE???

The Sister School Committee and the Student Government Organization at YSN are organizing the first ever YSN COOKBOOK! We are looking for original recipes, particularly those that pertain to your YSN days or YSN history. Accompanying anecdotes are welcome and encouraged! Profits from the cookbook will go toward a scholarship fund for travel expenses of YSN students who wish to pursue clinical work at our sister school in Leon, Nicaragua.

Please send your recipe(s) by JANUARY 15, 1993, along with your name and class year to:

1992 Alumnae/i Weekend Revisited

Upon arrival of the summer issue of the Yale Nurse, the first thing we noticed was what had been omitted – the coverage of Alumnae/i Weekend had not made the journey from the editorial desk to the printer intact. To amend that omission, to extend an apology to Helen Varney Burst ’63 and Judith Lynch, and to inform those not present for the event, we offer this compendium.

On Saturday morning, June 6, the Third Plenary Session, "Interaction Between Feminism and Nursing: An Historical Perspective," was delivered by Yale School of Nursing faculty Helen Varney Burst, MSN, CNM and Judith Lynch, MS, MA. This cogent presentation addressed the current federal government’s initiative for the advancement of women’s health research, the evolution of professional nursing from a feminist perspective, and consumer and feminist power and control issues in the health care of women as illustrated in the history of the profession and practice of nurse-midwifery.

Engaged and stimulated, many in the audience requested bibliographic material. Judy Lynch graciously compiled a number of readings for inclusion in this Yale Nurse, with a promise of more to follow.

A SHORT READING LIST ON WOMEN’S ISSUES
Judith Shannon Lynch

Women’s History

Chesler, Phillis (1972). Women and Madness.

Ehrenreich, Barbara and English, Deirdre (1978). For Her Own Good.

All of the above can be found in paperback and are short essays. Together they give the reader a global look at various ways in which women’s health was perceived over time.

A Letter to YUSNAA

Dear Fellow Alums,

It has been my privilege to attend several AYA Assemblies and I feel that I should tell you a little bit about them. But first, let me back up and give you the history. It was with reluctance that I agreed to go on our ballot as AYA Delegate. My job has been exceedingly demanding in the last few years and I feel I have little energy to spare. But you know how it is when the nominating committee calls and so I said, “Well, OK.” And so, that first year, I stole away across town for as much of the assembly as I could, not knowing what to expect.

We gathered in one or another of the large lecture halls while the planning committee brought out an assortment of congenial and delightful faculty and staff to inform, amuse, and perhaps even to educate us about a variety of topics. Some of the topics are directly about the university and, of course, from time to time we hear reports of how much the physical plant needs repairs, but most of the time the topics are much more far ranging than that. I didn’t take very good notes and apparently didn’t keep all the ones I did take so that I cannot tell you the date that I went to a lecture with slide presentation by Benoit Mandelbrot on chaos theory fame. The mathematics is way over my head, but the pictures can be enjoyed as works of art. Besides, the whole field of chaos and nonlinear systems touches on my own specialty of cardiac arrhythmias, so I have some comprehension and huge appreciation of the topic. All of which is to say that it was a very major treat, indeed, to attend this lecture.

I now make a serious attempt to take time off from work, and thus was able to attend Assembly XL this spring. I took slightly better notes than usual with the idea of having some “pearls” to share, such as, “The value of your diploma is proportional to the reputation of the institution at the present time.” Saundra Bialos was on the panel, “Perspectives from the Volunteers.” She was a wonderful demonstration of the talent from our school. She outlined how the alumni organization has used the major product of the university in a variety of educational programs for alumni. There were many fascinating other sessions this spring, as there have been at each assembly in which I learned about the Hubble space telescope, penguins in Antarctica, students in Madagascar working for conservation, to name a few.

It is even more interesting to meet the other delegates. They are almost uniformly fascinating people and most of them are incredibly serious about working hard for their alumni constituencies. In summary, I would urge all of you to consider a term as AYA Delegate. It is fun and it will certainly increase your respect for and your pride in being from Yale.

Sincerely,
Antoinette (Toni) Tyndall ’79

YUSNAA Annual Treasurer’s Report

The annual Treasurer’s report for the Yale School of Nursing Alumnae/i Association, 1991-92, has been submitted by Gretchen Mosman, Treasurer. The YUSNAA began the 1991-92 fiscal year in July, 1991 with a balance of $13,105.33 in an interest bearing checking account at the Bank of Boston Connecticut. During the past year activity in a separate Yale University daily use account included:

1992 Alumnae/i Weekend expenses $8544.00
Commencement pins for the Class of 1992 $4414.00
Receipts for this account included:
1992 Alumnae/i Weekend registration fees $10,039.00
Royalty income $26.00

The fiscal year ended (6/30/92) with a balance of $13,047.06 in the Bank of Boston Connecticut account. Interest paid year to date was $204.65. Several small checks, e.g. to support the Student Government Organization’s Orientation Week luncheon, were paid out of this account. The majority of the year’s expenses were covered through the University account.
36th Alumnae/i College Program in the Planning Stage

The YUSNAA Board is hard at work planning the program and activities for Alumnae/i Weekend, June 3-5, 1993. This year's theme, "Making a Difference: Nurses and AIDS," offers an enormous opportunity to gather experts in the field to present the many faces of AIDS and how this disease impacts all of us in some way or other. We are fortunate indeed to have Ann Williams '81 on faculty at YSN, a nurse who has been working with drug abusing women with AIDS for years and who has agreed to help develop the program for the Weekend. Ann has offered invaluable suggestions for presenters and format and the planning committee is excited about all the possibilities ahead. This is the year you should promise yourself a treat! Return to New Haven in June, a time when the city is in full bloom. Join your former classmates in reestablishing ties, reminiscing about your student days, and challenging your mind once again with a stimulating and informative program about a topic that affects all of us in so many ways. If you make the effort, the reward will come back tenfold and you will have a memory to cherish. Put the date on your calendar now – June 3-5, 1993 – and begin to make your plans. See you then!

The Distinguished Alumnae/i Awards ... From the Beginning

As we ask you to begin to think about nominations for the Distinguished Alumnae/i Awards for 1993, the YUSNAA Board thought that a brief review of the history of the awards might be helpful in creating a context for your deliberations. A nomination form is available on the inside of the back cover of this issue of Yale Nurse.

The original Distinguished Alumnae/i Awards were created as part of the celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the School of Nursing in 1973, the first year that Donna Diers was Dean. The 50th Anniversary Planning Committee believed that YSN graduates are special and go on to do interesting and useful things, and that honoring them publicly and in a significant way might stimulate and publicize such work. The Committee also believed that there are lots of ways to be "distinguished," thus, the first set of awards were in broad categories: service to the profession, service to the School and or alumnae/i activities, service to the public, etc. One of the more important decisions from the work of that planning group was the form that the citations would take. They are written with the name of the recipient last, to build the suspense a little, but also because that is the form honorary degree citations take; and they are always presented as the last, most important part of the Alumnae/i Weekend banquet. In the beginning Yale plates were awarded, until Mary Colwell '50, Assistant to the Dean for Alumnae/i Affairs before her retirement, came up with the idea of the Paul Revere bowls lined in blue that are now traditional. The other tradition established at the 50th Anniversary was the practice of having the Dean and the President of the Alumnae/i Association alternate reading the citations. It just seemed the right thing to do.

Donna Diers states, "Over the years it has been so impressive to see what our alumnae/i do and how much it means to the world and, I believe, the recipient. We are an astonishing group of people!" As you think about YSN friends and classmates who might be deserving of our highest award, also take pride in your own unique accomplishments which in some way have been influenced by your experience at YSN.

Mary Jane Kennedy Earns Yale Award

At the Alumni Fund Convocation Weekend in October Mary Jane Kennedy '68 was presented a Yale Alumni Fund Chairman's Award during the Chairman's Award reception in the President's Room at Woolsey Hall. This is the second time Mary Jane has been recognized for her tireless work in raising funds for YSN! Her citation said it all:

"Volunteer Fund Chair and Yale Nurse of the first order, Mary Jane Kennedy led the YSN alumnae/i to an impressive 57% participation in the 1991-92 YSN Fund Drive, the highest percentage of participation for the year among all Yale School Alumni Funds. In addition, the YSN Alumnae/i Fund also achieved a record total for gifts to the school.

As Chairperson of the YSN Fund since 1980, Mary Jane's leadership has inspired class agents to raise over $1.6 million for YSN. Not only does Mary Jane chair the fund but she has been class agent for the Class of 1968 since her graduation from YSN.

Mary Jane Kennedy has been passionate, persistent, tactful, and gracious in her efforts to boost annual support for YSN. It is with deep appreciation and wishes for continued success that we celebrate her ongoing commitment to YSN with the 1991-92 Chairman's Award."

Community Service Coordinator
Position Funded

For years YSN students have been actively engaged in efforts to address social and health problems in the surrounding community. In an effort to sustain programs initiated by the students once they have graduated, it became clear that a student community service coordinator would insure the continuation of these programs which were created with considerable effort and planning. This year the necessary funds were approved to support the position and Katy Cottingham '94 has taken on the job with enormous energy and enthusiasm. She takes her job seriously, but with humor and good grace, and has decked the halls of YSN with poster after poster advertising the many activities consistent with the professional goals of nursing and the mission of YSN which our students tirelessly support. Among the numerous committees that address New Haven's pressing social and health concerns are:

- DESK, the Downtown Evening Soup Kitchen, manned by 37 volunteers from YSN who rotate every evening to provide basic health care, counselling, and referral to the patrons.

- The Sister School Committee which continues to work with the New Haven/Leon, Nicaragua Sister City Project through material aid drives; sale of a 1993 Peace Calendar to raise money for a nursing education video series for students at the sister school, Perla Maria Nororis; production and sale of a YSN cookbook, the proceeds of which will go toward a scholarship fund to help with travel expenses for students interested in doing clinical work in Leon; and work in New Haven through the Centro San Jose with children's health workshops.

- The Community Service Committee which facilitates YSN student involvement in various community projects such as Habitat for Humanity and REMEDY (Recovered Medical Equipment for the Developing World).

- A Community Services Lecture Series.

- A newly formed inter-graduate school partnership, the Graduate and Professional Students' Community Action Partnership, to encourage networking among existing community service projects.

Katy is to be commended for all her hard work which has infused a great spirit of community cohesiveness within and without YSN. She is a true Yale nurse!
Susan Dugan '93, in conjunction with several others has published an article, "The acute effects of a loading dose of phenylalanine in unipolar depressed patients with and without tardive dyskinesia," in Neuropsychopharmacology, May, 1992.

Alyssa Kornguth Rotman '93, married Brad Rotman last August in a small ceremony at their home in Connecticut. A week later they held a big celebration/reception on Cape Cod for friends and family.

Wailua Brandman '94, participated in the first annual week-long International Love and Health Congress in August, 1992, as a Group Leader. Sponsored by Southern Connecticut State University and the Exceptional Cancer Patients Center of New Haven, the congress attracted over 500 people from 11 countries with presentations by physicians, nurses, therapists, educators, and artists on topics ranging from therapeutic touch to forgiveness and the healing process.

Stephanie Hertig '94 and Erin Mahan '93 have put together a very impressive monthly Student Government Organization Newsletter created to serve as a calendar of events, a means of recognizing those in the YSN community who deserve applause, and a source of information on the many aspects of the YSN experience. Kudos to the Editors! A huge job, and one well done.

Zina Mirmina '95, and her husband Scott welcomed Austin William, born on October 16, 1992, weighing 8 1/2 lbs. Zina is a first year part-time student in the Med-Surg Program.

The following students have been awarded scholarships for the 1992-93 academic year. Congratulations to all!

Mairead Hickey, Associate Professor and Director of the Med-Surg Program, was honored at the Connecticut Nurses' Association (CNA) Diamond Jubilee Awards Banquet with one of CNA's highest awards for outstanding contributions to nursing. She recently presented, "Cardiac Risk Factor Self-Efficacy," at a poster session at the Annual Meeting of the American Academy of Nursing in St. Louis, MO and was a key speaker on, "Self-Efficacy - Application in Nursing Research," at the First Annual Conference in Self-Efficacy Research in Nursing in Farmington, CT.

Wendy Holmes served as a panel member at the New England Regional Oncology Nursing Symposium in Durham, New Hampshire in October of this year. Wendy's topic was, "Current Trends in Bone Marrow Transplantation."

Paula Milone-Nuzzo, Coordinator of the Home Health Care Concentration, presented, "Transitioning the Hospital Nurse to Home Care," at the National Association for Home Care Annual Meeting in New Orleans in September. She also was invited to participate at a local conference entitled, "Partnerships in Care: Providing Continuity from Hospital to Home Care." Her topic was, "Transition Planning in Connecticut: Current Trends."

Lorraine Mion, Coordinator of the Gerontological Specialty, Med-Surg Program, was awarded the Marie Haug Student Award in recognition of excellence in aging studies at the University Center on Aging and Health, Case Western Reserve University. Lorraine earned her PhD from Case.

Nancy Tommasini '87 and Carrie Federici co-authored, "Recognition of panic disorder in the emergency room," Journal of Emergency Nursing, 18 (4). Nancy is a faculty member in the Adult Psych Program and Carrie, currently on maternity leave, teaches in the ANP/FNP Program.
YSN Alums Integral to YNHH Program

Earlier this year when Yale-New Haven Hospital announced a new $1.8 million initiative to improve maternal health and combat infant mortality in New Haven, it backed the plan with the people to make it happen. Lori Clark (YSN '90) and Shan Anandan (YSN '93) are two of the newer faces involved in the program's goal of eliminating barriers to care for the many New Haven women who still do not receive the early intervention they need to ensure healthy newborns.

Clark, clinical nurse specialist, and Anandan, continuity of care coordinator, are helping to develop the new YNHH program, Me and My Baby, whose goal is to make access to prenatal care more convenient, less threatening and more appealing to inner city women.

Clark is working with neighborhood groups and health care providers to identify the women; Anandan is then tracking those women once they are in the system. "If prenatal care were based on medical intervention alone, we'd have solved the problem of infant mortality a long time ago," said Lori Clark who comes to Yale-New Haven from Boston where she was part of a maternal and child health team of visiting nurses. "The Me and My Baby program takes a holistic approach to prenatal care, ensuring that women's basic needs are met so that prenatal care becomes something they can realistically attain," Clark said. Currently, she added, some of the barriers to care include: transportation, child care, inability to pay for care, and feelings of alienation toward health care institutions. The Me and My Baby program has measures to counteract all of those barriers. Two important measures now in place are broadening financial eligibility for care and free walk-in pregnancy testing.

Among Shan Anandan's diverse responsibilities is to function as a liaison between the Women's Center, the Primary Care Center, the WIC program, and the inpatient post-partum units to ensure continuity of care for mothers and their infants. Follow-up is also crucial, noted Anandan. "Currently a large percent of women don't come back for their post-partum check up. With the Me and My Baby program we'll try to improve that substantially," she said.

Anandan was born and educated in South Africa where she studied and worked as a nurse midwife. Her other experiences include critical care nursing and research. She is now a candidate for a master's degree in community health nursing at YSN.

Both Clark and Anandan are no strangers to Yale-New Haven. Clark interned under former Women's Center clinical nurse specialist Robyn Hoffman (YSN '87) while completing a master's in community health nursing. Three years ago Anandan was working on a Yale School of Medicine research project involving the use of low dose aspirin to prevent toxemia in pregnancy. Both women said their introductory experiences were important in their decision to work at Yale-New Haven. "I'm very interested in maternal and child health," Anandan said. "If I can make even a small impact, then I've done something to help solve the problem."

In September she was honored as the 1992 Alumna of the Year by the University of North Carolina School of Nursing at Chapel Hill where Bette was one of the first women to graduate with a four year degree in nursing in 1955. Linda is currently a PhD candidate in Epidemiology and Public Health at Yale.

Ernestine Wiedenbach Experiences the Wrath of Hurricane Andrew

Last summer Hurricane Andrew hit Florida with almost unprecedented force, leaving a path of overwhelming destruction in its wake. YSN's beloved Ernestine Wiedenbach and her lifelong friend, Caroline Falls, were living in a retirement community in South Miami and like many others suffered greatly during that siege. Caroline died several days after the hurricane hit and Ernestine is now being cared for by Susan Nickel, a dear friend who learned of her plight and moved her from a nursing home to her own home in Delray Beach. YSN faculty member and history buff Helen Varney Burst '63 launched a major letter writing campaign directed at YSN Classes of 1956-67 (those who would have known Ernestine best) to help boost her lagging spirits and sense of loss and was rewarded with a deluge of letters of love and support sent to Ernestine who is now 92. Jean Dunham Goss '65, Ernestine's niece, sent a lovely letter of thanks to all who rallied in support of her aunt and reports, "Ernestine is one strong lady, as many of you well know. Her physical condition is improving as much as proper nutrition, warmth, safety, comfort and tender loving care can accomplish. . . . Mentally she (is ready) to end this phase of her life and go on to the Next Great Adventure. . . . The number of cards and letters has been overwhelming and greatly appreciated." Yale Nurse wishes to also voice a special thanks to Helen for all her efforts in behalf of this very special woman who is such an integral part of YSN's history, and to Susan Nickel who so unselfishly has taken Ernestine into her gracious care.
Dear Colleagues:

You have done it again! You have met the challenge and exceeded it! Not only did we raise an impressive $248,752 for our school, but we also received award winning recognition within Yale for the strength of our participation. With 57% of us contributing, we led all of the graduates and professional schools. Needless to say, with more graduates joining the ranks of alums, we can – and should – only go forward in support of YSN.

The Dean, her faculty, the students who received the lion’s share of the fund through scholarships, and I thank all of you whose names are listed below. Ad multos annos!

NOMINATION
FOR DISTINGUISHED/OUTSTANDING ALUMNAE/I AWARDS
1993

The tradition of honoring outstanding alumnae/i was started at the time of the 50th Anniversary celebration in 1973. It is a very special opportunity to honor colleagues and classmates who have distinguished themselves with special talents and achievements. We again solicit your nominations of YSN alums who, you feel, should be recognized in this way. Those alumnae/i who were suggested last year will be considered along with new ones submitted this year. These awards will be presented during the Alumnae/i Weekend in June. The deadline for receipt of your nomination is March 1. Please send all nominations to Barbara Reif at the above address.

Review the criteria below and provide as much specific information as possible to indicate the ways in which your nominee meets these criteria. You may wish to solicit help from your friends or colleagues. A curriculum vitae would be helpful, if one is available. The committee will also seek additional information on nominees where necessary.

Criteria for eligibility for nomination:

Achievement and outstanding contributions to any of the following categories:
- Teaching and scholarship
- Clinical practice
- Leadership
- Research in clinical nursing
- Community/society
- YSN growth and development

Explanation:
1. How is the achievement or contribution beyond the normal expectation of the activity or position?
2. How is the achievement or contribution unique and innovative, having more than local impact?
3. Describe how the service to YSN/community/profession is continuous and sustaining.
4. How do the activities contribute to the development of new dimensions and directions in nursing?
